Turns on 'The Kid' —Blonde Betty Grable today lashed out at her husband, Jackie "The Kid" Coogan, declaring their separation was his idea, not hers. "I'd go back to him in a minute—if he'd ask me," she said in Hollywood. Totalling her grievances, the actress said he sold her furniture, used part of the proceeds to buy a car. STORY ON PAGE 2

Schacht Out, Jew Refugee Plan Upset

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Jan. 20—Completely disorganizing international efforts to solve the acute problem of Jewish emigration from Germany, Adolf Hitler today removed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht from the presidency of the Reichsbank in a move foreshadowing drastic changes in the Reich's economic and financial setup.

Schacht will remain a member of Hitler's cabinet, being kept on hand for "special assignments."

The fuehrer's order brought to a sudden end the negotiations between Dr. Schacht and George Rublee, American director of the international refugee conference, at the very moment a workable agreement on the Jewish question appeared to be in sight.

MOVE AIDS MARKET

Schacht was replaced as president of the Reichsbank by Dr. Walther Funk, who also will retain his old post as minister of economics.

Funk, leading protagonist of German trade and financial expansion in eastern Europe, thus will be endowed with the joint fiscal and governmental powers once enjoyed by Dr. Schacht himself.

Dr. Schacht for years held these two important posts, but was removed from the economic ministry some time ago because of reported disagreements with Hitler on the subjects of trade concessions, controlled inflation and restrictions of foreign exchange which are present characteristics of the Nazi regime.

HITLER LISTS TASKS

The German stock market reacted favorably to the change. General belief expressed in official quarters was that co-ordination of German finance and economics under Dr. Funk would serve to improve the country's internal and external financial status.

It was announced the presidency of the Reichsbank and the Ministry of Economics will now be united under Funk, whose appointment is limited to a four-year term.

Later Rublee approached the Nazi Government to try to learn the chances of reopening negotiations on a new plan. No response was received immediately.

Jews Fear Another Pogrom by Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 20 (INS)—Jews in Germany anticipate "another pogrom" soon, the London Daily Mirror reported today, stating Chancellor Hitler has determined to rid the Reich of its Jewish population.

Paul Shannon Drowned at St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—The body of Paul Shannon, 64, veteran Boston sports writer, was recovered early today from Pass-a-Grille Bay near here.

Magistrate John T. Fisher said he believed Shannon fell into the water from a seawall on the bay front and that it appeared to be a case of accidental drowning.

Magistrate Joe Carpenter said there would be no inquest.

The last person to be with Shannon was Mrs. W. J. Keidel, a friend of the family who has been staying at the Shannon home. She had gone down town with him.

"He said he was going for a walk," Mrs. Keidel said, "and I went home to get the dog. When I returned I didn't see him and, after a few minutes I went back home and went to bed. I thought he had just walked down the street."

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 a. m., at St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Shannon for 35 years was baseball and sports writer for the Boston Post and had been covering here 15 winters to cover spring training activities of the major league teams. Besides his wife, survivors include a sister, Mrs. Ed C. Matthews of Boston.

The veteran writer was president of the Baseball Writers' Association.

Not a doctor, but her mother is what little Beatrice DeGruy, 7, needs as she tosses upon her bed, dangerously ill. The mother, Mrs. Leo DeGruy of Dorchester, disappeared last week . . . and nothing but trouble has followed for the girl and her father. From feverish lips, the child calls "Mama" as police searched the city for the missing woman.

Betty Blasts But Still Loves Coogan

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20 (AP)—Actress Betty Grable took time out today from her business of looking fetching (and very) to deny that her separation from Jackie Coogan was her idea and to cite him for several little "errors."

In the first place, she said with emphasis:

"Jackie suggested the separation 'until we get things ironed out.' I didn't. I'd go back to him in a minute—if he'd ask me."

People have been saying, Betty declared, that she left Jack because he didn't have any money and that she wouldn't live with him until (and if) he gets the money he believes his mother and stepfather, Arthur Bernstein, owe him.

Jackie is suing the Bernsteins

Ill Girl Begs Mother to Return Home

"Mama, please come hime. Daddy and I feel so tired."

That's the message little Beatrice De Gruy, 7, of Elligton street, Dorchester, gave to the Boston Evening American for her mother, Mrs. Frances De Gruy, 27, who has not been seen since she left the house a week ago to go to a nearby lending library.

A few days ago Beatrice suffered a severe attack of the grip.

She has been unable to eat or sleep. Her father, Leo De Gruy, a WPA worker, became so worried about Beatrice's condition yesterday he appealed to police to find his wife.

Sunday the De Gruy home was burned. Firemen carried the sick child through smoke and cold. Neighbors care for her while her father is at work.

In her earful plea to "mama" today she said:

"Please come home. Daddy and I feel so tired. We think about you all the time and wonder where you are. Daddy can't sleep and I can't because Daddy can't."

DEB IN MINK PAYS $2 AUTO FINE

VIRGINIA PHELAN

Municipal court attaches don't get much chance to hobnob with mink-coated debs, so they were tickled today when pretty, blond Virginia Phelan showed up with a summons.

When she left, however, they were wondering if three weeks of going hungry wasn't a little too stiff a punishment for just parking a car somewhere overtime.

"Ginny," the post-debutante daughter of the late James J. Phelan, banker, arrived at the temporary courthouse in the old Young's Hotel, wit hher summons in a well-gloved hand. She wore the mink coat and was escorted by her uniformed chuffeur, hatless.

She asked an officer where she was to go, and he pointed across an areaway to the second session.

"Oh, no," she said. 'I'm not going in there. I might never get out again."

But the officer assured her that Judge Charles L. Carr wasn't as terrifying as all that, and finally she went in.

When her case was called, Judge Carr asked why she hadn't returned the pink slip she got for her third parking offense. She said she's been sick and couldn't get to court with it.

"I'm afraid I'll have to fine you two dollars," said Judge Carr.

"Ginny" dug into a handbag only slightly more commodious than an overnight suitcase and brought up a purse from which she extracted two $1 bills.

Handing them over to Court Officer Robert Mayer, she said:

"Now, I don't eat for about three weeks."

"Yeah," said Mayer. "Believe it or not!"

Miss Phelan lives in Chawick road, Brighton. Her offense was committed on Dec. 28, parking overtime in Providence street, between Arlington and Berkeley streets, for more than five minutes.

RUPPERT RICHES TO CHORUS GIRL

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—A young and comparatively unknown woman, Helen Winthrope Weyant, of Springfield, Mass., was named one of the three chief beneficiaries of the estate of Col. Jacob Ruppert, millionaire bachelor and owner of the New York Yankees baseball club, whose will was filed for probate in County Surrogate's court today. His fortune has been variously estimated at $30,000,000 to $70,000,000.

"Jake" Ruppert in Characteristic Poses

The other principal beneficiaries are Helen Ruppert Silleck and Ruth Rita Silleck, nieces of Col. Ruppert.

Ruppert died last Friday in his Fifth Avenue home after a protracted illness. He was 71.

Helen Winthrope Weyant, the will declared, is "sometimes known as Winthrope Wayne."

Byron Clark, Jr., one of Col. Ruppert's attorneys, said she was "a very dear friend of the colonel's and I have met her socially. She is very charming."

And at the offices of Chorus Equity, the AFL union to which chorus girls belong, it was said that a "Winthrope Wayne" was listed as a member and had appeared in several musical shows, among them "The Merry Malones" and "Three Cheers."

Nobody at the Yankee offices, however, could identify her.

Under the terms of the will all of the capital stock of the Ruppert Holding Corporation, which holds the stock of the Yankee club, is divided into three parts for the benefit of the nieces and Helen Winthrope Weyant.

The nieces, Helen and Ruth Rita whose maiden names were given in the will, are now respectively the wives of Joseph Halloran and J. Basil McGuire, both of Greenwich, Conn.

A specific bequest of $300,000 was also made to Helen Winthrope Weyant, and another of $150,000 to the Lenox Hill Hospital. Art works, owned by the Colonel, were left to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

At the apartment home of Helen Winthrope Weyant, a woman who answered the telephone said:

"I am sorry but I can give you no information."

The doorman said she and her mother had left town Monday night without saying when they would return.

The residuary estate, under the will, is to be divided into three parts and placed in trust for the benefit of the nieces and Helen Winthrope Weyant.

Executors of the estate are George Ruppert, a brother; H. Garrison Silleck, Jr., brother-in-law, and Frederick E. Grant, attorney for Col. Ruppert for many years.

The executors will also serve as trustees for the residuary estate, while Edward G. Barrow, newly elected president of the Yankees, will serve as additional trustee for the valuable baseball property.

Speaking of his interest as owner of the world champion Yankees, Colonel Ruppert wrote:

"I have taken a great deal of pride in my connection with the American League Baseball Club of New York, Inc., and I have devoted much attention to and taken much interest in its development and especially in the erection of the 'Yankee Stadium' in the Bronx, and in the public favor and approval which the baseball club has enjoyed.

"I feel justified in my desire that this enterprise shall be perpetuated . . ."

Each of the three chief beneficiaries is empowered to dispose of her share of the principal in her own will.

Ruppert's will was executed March 7, 1934.

SPEEDY PROBATING

Surrogate James A. Delehanty, acting with extraordinary dispatch, admitted the will to probate 15 minutes after it was filed. The surrogate's action was based upon affidavits by the attorneys stating that all parties interested in the estate as beneficiaries had consented to the admission of the will.

It customarily takes about 8

RUPPERT'S HEIRESS IS FROM SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 20—Helen Winthrope Weyant, heir to $30,000,000 in the will of Colonel Jacob Ruppert, was born here and is well-known in this city. She is 37 years old.

She went to the local schools and was interested in Springfield amateur theatricals before succumbing to the call of the New York stage in 1920.

She trained there under Charles Dillingham, being in a number of hits, including "Three Cheers" and "The Three Malones."

ON BOSTON STAGE

Boston saw her first in "Three Cheers," which Dillingham brought to Boston in April, 1929, with a glittering list of stars, including Will Rogers, Dorothy Stone, and Andrew Tombes.

This was the show originally prepared for Fred Stone, into which Will Rogers stepped when his old friend was seriously injured in an airplane accident.

"Three Cheers" played the Colonial Theater, and Miss Weyant was in the chorus.

KIN SILENT ON BEQUEST

Miss Weyant's sister, Lillian, is the wife of Dr. Edwin Foster, a Springfield dentist, with offices in Main street. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. George Weyant.

Dr. Foster declined to comment on his sister-in-law's huge inheritance, and all queries of other members of the family were directed to him.

58 Million Ruppert Tax Likely

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—If the taxable net estate of the late Colonel Jacob Ruppert should total $70,000,000, federal and New York State governments would take all except about $12,000,000 in taxes, Ruppert's will was filed for probate today.

An employe of the Federal Treasury Department said last week that the United States would collect $32,000,000 of the first $50,000,000, net, and 70 per cent of all over that amount—a total of $46,000,000.

The sate inheritance tax laws, provide, after comparatively small exemptions, for a tax of 20 per cent of the amount by which the net estate exceeds $10,100,000, which would mean a tax of $11,980,000.

Legacy Girl 'Surprised And Upset'

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—A spokesman for Helen Winthrope Weyant, one of the three principal beneficiaries of Colonel Jacob Ruppert's vast baseball and brewing estate, said today she had no knowledge of the bequest until she received a telegram this morning.

The spokesman was her brother, Rex, a small, dark-haired young man who is assistant traveling secretary of the New York Yankees.

BEQUEST "DREADFUL SHOCK"

He quoted her as telling him:

"I didn't know that Mr. Ruppert even considered me in his will. The first I learned about it was a telegram this morning. It was a dreadful shock to me and I am so nervous and upset that it is impossible for me to talk to anyone."

Weyant described his sister as in her late thirties. He said she was a brunette. A picture taken of her several years ago showed her hair worn in straight cut bangs, framing decidedly youthful features.

Through her brother she also said, "My family have been friends of Mr. Ruppert for years," but declined to amplify that statement.

Shopkeepers in the West Fifty-fifth street neighborhood where she lives said Miss Weyant was only an occasional customer.

Miss Weyant lives with her mother. They came to New York from Springfield, Mass., some years ago so that Miss Weyant could pursue her stage career. She was known as Winthrope Wayne.

Jack Benny Trial Postponed a Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (AP)—The trial of Jack Benny, radio and screen star, on charges of smuggling, which is on the federal court calendar for Tuesday, will be postponed for at least a week because of the absence of Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph L. Delaney in California.

Delaney left late last night and will arrive in California Monday. He expects to question several actors and actresses.

Named in Jacob Ruppert's will to share estate of $30,000,000 to $70,000,000 is Ruth Rita Silleck . . . shown here during a Sands Point, L. I., social function. With her sister, Helen, and a comparatively unknown woman, Helen Winthrope Weyant of Springfield, Mass., she will take her place as one of America's wealthiest women.

First Lady Visits Hospital Patient

BALTIMORE, Jan. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, accompanied by her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, paid her second visit yesterday to Henry Osthagan of Washington at the Maryland General Hospital. Osthagan recently underwent an operation in the hospital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Henry Osthagan, who was visited in a Baltimore hospital by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, is an engineer in the procurement division of the Treasury Department.

HEROIC TALES OF DARING SHIP RESCUES

A thrill-packed story of how a veteran skipper, his three sons and fellow seamen waged a desperate, losing fight to save their ship, as it foundered off Cape Cod, was told at first hand here today.

At the same time terse and incomplete radio reports revealed two other stirring sagas of courageous men battling grimly against an angry sea.

One staccato series of dispatches, flashed across the airwaves, described the mid-ocean rescue of 37 men and officers of the Norwegian motor tanker Jaguar.

SHIP BREAKS IN TWO

She broke in two, in a terrific storm, midway between the Azores and Cape Hatteras.

Off the drifting sections of her hulk another Norwegian vessel, the freighter Duala, took the exhausted survivors. Heroic boat crews twice risked their lives as the rescues were accomplished.

Meanwhile, in the "graveyard of North Atlantic," southeast of Sable Island, N. S., the coast guard cutter Cayuga stood by the wallowing freighter Black Condor, which lost her propeller in a howling gale, en route from Rotterdam to New York.

After an 800-mile race through blinding snow and heavy seas to the Black Condor's side, the Cayuga waited to pass a tow line aboard as soon as the weather should moderate.

START FOR BOSTON

It was expected she would get the freighter under way today, starting the long haul to Boston.

The Black Condor planned to tie up here for repairs.

Newly arrived in Boston today, their ship and savings and means of livelihood lost, were seven men who counted themselves lucky to be alive.

They were Captain James L. Publicover, 55; his three sons, William, 30; Bruce, 22, and Charles, 28, and Seamen Fletcher Oxner, 35; Arnold Adams, 29, and Walter Stevens, 28.

The Coast Guard patrol boat Thetis brought them to Charlestown Navy Yard, after they had been rescued from the four-masted schooner Laura Annie Barnes.

She foundered on Tuckernuck Shoals, Nantucket Sound, en route from Lunenberg, N. S., to New Haven, Ct., with a cargo of wood pulp.

GRIEVES FOR SHIP

Grizzled, wiry little Skipper Publicover, a native of Le Have, N. S., and one of the last of the old-time sailing masters, told his story to the Boston Evening American.

"We stayed aboard the Laura Annie Barnes until she foundered under our feet," he said.

"She was our home. She earned our living for us. All my savings were tied up in her after 42 years I followed the sea, man and boy.

"I guess I'm beached, at last.

"All we saved was our clothes.

WITH HANDS BLEEDING

"We fought to get our vessel off the shoal, even when water in the cabin was up to our waists, the galley flooded, furniture and fittings afloat and the planks on the hull splintering.

"I hated to leave her. It almost broke my heart.

"I was on the bridge Tuesday morning and we ran fast aground about 10 miles off Nantucket Island.

"The Coast Guard boats tried to pull us off, but it was no use.

"A howling snowstorm came up Wednesday forenoon and the seas were running inside. She began to ground hard , and then the seams opened up and we took on water. We got off the vessel.

"I had to leave a lot of our stuff behind—like the rust-proof organ in the cabin.

"I've shipped on sailing boats man-and-boy for more than 40 years, and I've lost two other boats. I got an engraved watch from President Wilson for saving seven men off Cape Cod. That was in wartime when I was running through the U-boat blockade and dodging Count Luckner, the sea raider."

Mother rejoices when Herbert W. Sprague was cleared by a jury of charge of killing eight-year-old Barbara Driscoll of Portsmouth, N. H. The mother, Mrs. Cora Contis, 82, left immediately after the verdict for Kittery, Me., home of Sprague's brother to get celebration supper for him.

Guam Defense Plan Approved By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (INS)—President Roosevelt today approved the Navy's plans to spend $5,000,000 dredging the harbor of Guam and making other military improvements.

He indicated that the congressional authorization of this amount was being made without any thought of negotiations with Japan, although it was recalled to him at his press conference that an earlier move to make a big naval base of Guam resulted in the calling of the 1922 arms conference.

President Roosevelt made a careful distinction between congressional authorizations and appropriations, pointing out that the measure now being considered merely authorized but did not appropriate for the arming of the tiny but vital Pacific island.

In so far as the report of the special navy board, headed by Admiral Arthur Hepburn, proposing a long range fortification of Pacific outposts, was concerned, the President said that he was not taking sides or bothering himself about the long-range proposals.

He is considering only the $40,000,000 or more which will actually be needed this year to start certain phases of the program.

The Hepburn report envisions ultimate establishment of 41 naval bases at a cost of between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000.

Martin Ousts 15, Splits Auto Union

DETROIT, Jan. 20 (AP)—The CIO United Automobile Workers Union was spit wide open today, with dual conventions of opposing factions in March apparently a certainty.

President Homer Martin, announcing suspension of 15 members of the 24-man international executive board, locked them out of union headquarters and said the remainder of the board, controlled by him, would make "final and fair arrangements" for a convention.

The board members named in the suspension order, charging Martin's action violated the UAW constitution, announced they would "continue to protest the union and its membership from gangster rule," and that the international convention they had called for Cleveland March 20 would "proceed in a regular democratic manner."

The statement by Martin's foes said the board "will not let a madman surrounded by gangsters rule the UAW."

2 Given Jail Terms In Panama Spy Case

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., Jan. 20 (INS)—Two of the German defendants in the Panama canal spy case today received sentences of two years in Gamboa penetentiary after Federal Judge Bunk Gardner overruled their motion for a new trial.

Defense counsel announced that he would appeal the case in the federal court of appeals in New Orleans.

Sentenced today were Hans Schackow, 26, who allegedly took photographs in Fort Randolph last October, and Ernst Kuhrig, 29.

Strike Ties Up Fuel Firms in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 20 (AP)—A strike of union coal handlers went into its second day today, completely tying up 19 retail dealers.

Union headquarters announced deliveries would be made to hospitals and homes where there was illness or where families were on welfare.

TEACHERS GET PAY IN WOBURN

This wasn't just one more January 20 to Woburn's 135 school teachers.

This was PAY DAY!

On 135 calenders there was a big red circle around the date.

For last time the "ghost walked" for the teachers of Woburn was back in October.

They got paid for September of last year. But they worked for love of the job through October, November and December.

Because of Mayor Kane's ruthless budget-pairing, the school department ran out of cash.

$10,432 PAID OUT

Not even the unprecedented action of a Middlesex county grand jury in indicting the city of Woburn for failing to provide for public education relieved the situation.

But the new year brought a new budget.

Mayor Kane pared it again, so there'll be another cash shortage next autumn.

Meantime, this was PAY DAY at last.

City Treasurer Michael J. Curran signed checks totalling $10,432.

SUE FOR BACK PAY

The teachers, as of yore, deputed John P. Mahoney, clerk in the superintendent of schools' office, to collect the checks.

He planned to spend the rest of the day distributing them.

Today's checks will pay them for their services from January 1 to January 15, not for their payless three months of last year.

They're bringing suit to recover that back salary.

STRIKE THREATENED BY STARS OF RADIO

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—Some of your favorite radio stars are threatening to go on strike unless a minimum wage scale their union has proposed is accepted.

As the initial step toward a national strike which might force the cancellation of many programs now heard by millions, the 1200 members of the New York local of the American Federation of Radio Artists, today voted unanimously to strike if such a call is issued from the national body.

A similar vote will be taken in Chicago tonight, in Los Angeles tomorrow and in San Francisco on Sunday.

Eddie Cantor is president of the union, which is an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

STARS ARE MEMBERS

Among its members are Bing Crosby, Edgar Bergen, Jack Benny, Phil Baker, Lanny Ross and many other popular radio entertainers.

Officials of the union asserted the entertainers would refrain from working despite long term contracts to which many of them are signed. No strike can be called until the voting is completed Sunday and then only by the national body of the union.

The fact-finding committee of the American Association of Advertising Agencies which is conducting the negotiations, has offered a minimum of $15 for a 15-minute broadcast with two hours for free rehearsal, $20 for a 30-minute program with three hours of free rehearsal, and $25 for an hour with four hours of free rehearsal.

SPONSORS NOT WORRIED

Mrs. Emily Holt, executive secretary of the A. F. R. A., has termed this scale "fantastically low." The union has proposed instead minimum wages of $15, $25 and $35, respectively, and pay for rehearsals at the rate of $6 an hour.

Chester J. La Roche, chairman of the advertising agency committee, denied unconfirmed reports that some chief sponsors were urging the committee to reach a settlement.

"The sponsors are not worried and are backing our actions 100 per cent," he said. "We will use the newspapers and advertising media if this thing is done; we're not worried."

Solon's Sleep Disturbed by 'That Woman'

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 20 (AP)—State Representative John W. Whitney was satisfied today that "that woman" wouldn't disturb his sleep again.

An insistent lady, declaring that her husband was "lost," forced hotel employes to awaken the representative, who assured them he wasn't the man wanted. But the woman insisted he be "brought down here."

Two policemen prevailed upon the legislator to confront the woman. He did. She blushed. He blushed.

"That isn't the guy," she said as she slid sheepishly back into the night.

Fund Workers Increase Aides

The 1939 Community Fund Campaign organization was encouraged today by the report of Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske, Back Bay district director, that she has more than 200 workers, 35 per cent more than last year, to help in raising money.

At a preliminary rally, prior to the campaign's opening Monday, Rev. Cornelius P. Trowbridge, canon of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, called attention to the importance of the community drive's success.

Cape Rail Fight Pushed by Road

Taking the first move towards carrying to United States Supreme Court the fight to abandon 88 stations in Massachusetts, trustees of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad today filed an appeal for a stay of a federal circuit of appeals mandate.

The mandate reversed an abandonment order by Judge Carol Hincks, of the federal district court in New Haven.

Trustees of the railroad sought thestay of mandate until they can file application for a writ of certiorari in United States Supreme Court.

Assistant Attorney-General Federal Edward O. Proctor said he would appear in New York federal court Monday to fight any attempt to prevent the Massachusetts department of public utilities from resuming hearings on the abandonment proposals, scheduled to start February 1.

Walsh Says F. R. To Help Settle N. E. Flood Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts said today Secretary Woodring would confer with President Roosevelt later in the day in an effort to settle the controversy between Vermont and the War Department over flood control.

Walsh said he understood they would discuss a proposal for compromise which he submitted to Woodring earlier this week.

Another New England Senator said he was encouraged over the prospects of adjusting the controversy.

Informed persons indicated a solution to the impasse reached last week when Governor George D. Aiken of Vermont was voted a $67,500 defense fund by his Legislature to fight any federal encroachment on states' rights—probably would be reached through an exchange of letters between Secretary Woodring and Aiken.

They said they hoped it would not be necessary to have a written contract for the acquisition of land which Aiken originally demanded. They indicated, however, the War Department, as part of the compromise, would recognize certain rights of the state.

Chadwick Patriotic Talk to Be Broadcast

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—Stephen J. Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, will speak on "Americanism" to commanders in the New York area February 1, and his speech will be broadcast over the Mutual system, network officials announced today. The address will be aired from 5:30 to 5:45 p. m. (EST).

Chadwick's address will be delivered at a special meeting called by the Phoebe Apperson Hearst Memorial Post. It will be followed by a reception at which Chadwick will meet more than a dozen New York publishers and wire service heads.

TONY BRANDO WINS DIVORCE FROM KITTY

KITTY BRANDO

Divorce Ends Tiffs

Testifying that his pretty, dark-haired wife, former night club hostess, Kitty Brando, treated him so cruelly he lost 15 pounds and had to go to a hospital, Anthony J. "Tony" Brando, Boston night club proprietor, won an uncontested divorce today.

His divorce petition, filed in Dedham probate court, charged Mrs. Brando with unfaithfulness and cruelty.

Jimmy McHale, former band leader at Brando's night club, was named as co-respondent.

BRANDO WINS SON

No testimony was offered, however, in support of the unfaithfulness charge.

Judge Joseph R. McCoole awarded Brando his divorce and custody of a ten-year-old son, George, after hearing his story of stormy scenes in and out of the luxurious Brando home in an exclusive residential section of Brookline.

Brando testified, in part:

"Kitty wouldn't get up until one or two o'clock in the afternoon.

"Then she'd go into Boston and I wouldn't see her until four or five o'clock the next morning.

"When she came home, she often appeared to have been drinking.

"She was frequently abusive to me. She called me a foreigner and threatened she would have me 'taken care of.'

"THREW THE DISHES"

"When she was in a temper, she threw dishes and kitchen utensils at me.

"My health was affected and I lost 15 pounds. I began to suffer fainting spells. Finally, I had to go to a hospital."

Judge McCoole dismissed a cross-action filed by Mrs. Brando charging cruelty.

The brunette wife, once a reigning beauty in Boston night club circles, did not appear in court.

Today's divorce decree climaxed series of court actions and cross-actions long involving the Brandos.

"Boston After Dark" by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Doctor's Secret Goes Into Grave

LOWELL, Jan. 20 (AP)—The body of Dr. Eben True Aldrich, prominent physician who vanished in 1934 from Cambridge, and died a year later in New York's Bowery as the penniless derelict, "James Harrigan," was buried with his ancestors today in this city of his birth.

The curious saga of the former Watertown doctor, who left a life of luxury for the slums of New York, was brought to light by the New York missing persons' bureau. James Harrigan died of cancer in a Welfare Island hospital at 80.

A Dr. Aldrich had left keys at the New York office of the Harvard Trust Company in November, 1934. Those keys fitted bags in the Bowery hotel room of Harrigan. The bags contained a list tallying with Aldrich's securities, valued at $650,000, deposited in Cambridge. pctures of Harrigan as those of the Relatives subsequently identified pictures of Harrigan as those of the doctor.

WOMEN ENLIST IN SPAIN WAR

BARCELONA, Jan. 20 (AP)—Women are volunteering at Barcelona recruiting stationes at a rate of 600 a day to enlist for tough jobs behind the lines as the war-front closes steadily in on Barcelona.

Chattering, smiling and eager, they go noisily through the formalities of signing up for work as bicycle messengers, chauffeurs, cooks, teachers and nurses.

Some will clean the soldiers' barracks and wash their clothing. Others, even, will enter uniformed units such as the carabineros, customs guards, or asaltos—government police.

About 5000 women between the ages of 18 and 50 already have enrolled for soldiers' pay—10 pesetas (45 cents) a day and rations. They are under orders of the defense ministry.

Although all women have been ordered mobilized by government decree, enlistment is voluntary.

As newly mobilized men were reporting at recruiting stations today, Insurgent bombers circled over Barcelona but flew off without attacking.

The new male recruits were equipped for immediate service at the fronts or in fortifications brigades. Their uniforms were the clothes they reported in—business suits and overalls—but they shouldered rifles, donned knapsacks and were assigned to their corps.

Franco Smashes Hole In Barcelona Defenses

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Jan. 20 (AP)—Spanish Insurgents said today they had smashed a new gap in government lines defending Barcelona.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's high command at Burgos reported capture of Calaf, important communications center on a railroad and highway connecting the government capital and Lerida.

Occupation of Calaf, they said, brought Insurgent troops well within the borders of Barcelona Province at a point about 45 miles northwest of Barcelona and about 15 miles west of rFanco's next objective, Manresa.

General Garcia Valino's Maestrazgos army corps, on the left wing of Franco's big push in Catalonia, took Calaf, the reports said, while the Insurgents' central and right wing columns moved steadily forward in a converging movement toward Barcelona.

Franco's forces also opened an artillery bombardment on the town of Igualada, 28 miles west of Barcelona, key point in the Catalonian "Maginot Line."

Arm 'Bobbies' After New Blast

LONDON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Great Britain gave guns to her usually unarmed police today to strengthen the guard against terrorists who for five days have touched off bombs at power and water supply centers.

An explosion at the rear of the Tralee, Ireland, hotel where slept 25-year-old Frank Chamberlain, only son of the prime minister led to the almost unprecedented order for city and county peace officers in the British Isles to strap guns beside their traditional blackjacks.

Only a few picked men are permitted to carry guns in peacetime.

PATROL ULSTER AREA

Police blame the king-hating Irish Republican army for the terrorism and today 15,000 armed regulars and reserves of the Royal Ulster Constabulary patrolled the northern Ireland district where the premier's son was presumed to have been an intended victim of the hotel blast.

The Ulster government was reported ready to send members of its cabinet to London to discuss the outbreak with British ministers.

Police in England, Scotland and Wales were given guns and kept constant watch at airports, railroads, prisons, docks, electric plants and gas works.

Anonymous warnings received by police threatened the key airport at Hendon, London suburb, and the crack London to Holyhead train, the "Irish Mail."

Close Restaurant On Girl's Plea

A Spring street, West Roxbury, restaurant received orders today to close its doors Monday, making complete the victory of a 19-year-old girl in a battle for the health of her father and permanence of her home.

Single-handedly, the girl warred against the restaurant because of alleged repeated violations of laws prohibiting sales of alcoholic beverages to minors and other infractions.

Appearing with West Roxbury police before the Boston Licensing Board, the girl said the restaurant helped keep her father continuously drunk. She testified the proprietor threatened her harm if she dared protest against carrying beer home.

Betty Grable Blasts Coogan

for an accounting of the fortune he earned as a child star.

HOME GOES BOOM!!

"Such silly talk!" exclaimed Betty. "The lease expired on our house. I thought we ought to move to a smaller place or live with my mother.

"The first thing I knew Jackie was selling the furniture. Boom! And all my stuff moved out. Then he said he was going to San Francisco to see about an act. But he didn't ask me to go with him.

"I don't understand why Jackie hasn't said something to defend me. I still love him, and he knows it. Maybe he moved out to get sympathy. Maybe it was his lawyer's idea. He didn't talk very much. If he thinks he's doing the right thing to help his case, swell."

"STAYED IN BED"

Even though the shapely Miss Grable insists she still loves the husband who moved out early this month, she couldn't resist mentioning his shortcomings.

"I'm glad Jackie is getting out to do something," she said. "I used to tell him I thought it was terrible for him to stay in bed all morning. I thought he ought to get out early and at least look for some kind of job. I'd have given him credit for just trying.

"I knew he didn't have any money when I married him. He's got more money now than he had then. It came from the sale of my furniture. I let him keep all of it.

"But here's the pay-off: What do you suppose he did with some of the furniture money? He bought a new car. Can you tie that?

"I still love him and I'll go back to him whenever he asks me. But I won't chase him."

'Reverse' Ad Brings Job Bids

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 20 (AP)—Arnold J. Clinger, Jr., inserted this advertisement in a newspaper:

"Young man, 23, wants job. Qualifications: lazy, dishonest, used uncated, to say nothing of being a confirmed drunk. Please do not call too early."

Clinger told reporters only the first sentence was right, the rest "in reverse." He doesn't smoke, drink, swear, steal or sleep late. Three prospective employers responded.

Saltonstall Seeks Dever Ruling on Lease

Nelson Eddy, Surprise Bride In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., [illegible] (AP).—[illegible] Las Vegas, Nev., [illegible] Nelson Eddy and his bride [illegible] Franklin, were [illegible] in Hollywood today for [illegible]

Eddy will complete work in a current [illegible] picture and they will leave February [illegible] on a concert tour of 21 cities.

The blond singer, who has co-starred with Jeanette MacDonald in "Sweethearts" and other films, chose an accomplished musician for his wife. They met five years ago at the home of Doris Kenyon.

Mrs. Eddy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Duntz of Beverly Hills and the former wife of Sidney Franklin, screen director. She has a son, Sidney Franklin, Jr., 14. She gave her age as 40. Eddy gave his age as 37.

The wedding party, which motored to Las Vegas, included Mrs. Isabelle K. Eddy, the bridegroom's mother; F. J. Osborne, his business manager, and Miss Kenyon.

Boston Lures Fair Visitors

Boston is expected to have the largest influx of tourists in its history this year as a result of plans made by the Chamber of Commerce to attract New York World's Fair visitors here, the Chamber announced today.

Executive Secretary M. D. Liming said a booklet, "Boston Invites You," has been prepared for distribution at the fair, and that passengers on ships from abroad will be given literature about Boston while they're at sea.

A motion picture showing New England's attractions is planned for use throughout the country. A staff man is employed at the fair with the job of attracting visitors to Boston.

CONGRESS TO FACE PROTEST OF NEEDY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—The White House, it was learned today, has sent out hundreds of letters this week designed to place squarely on Congress responsibility for any reduction in federal relief activities.

And [illegible] talk of a compromise on a winter relief fund, the letters signed by Stephen [illegible] President Roosevelt's press secretary, have gone to persons who have written or telegraphed the President about the pending WPA appropriation bill.

FURTHER CUT ASKED

Mr Roosevelt asked for $875,000,000. The House chopped off $150,000,000. Some senators have advocated an even greater reduction.

Early's letters have quoted a statement from the President's [illegible] message to congress that [illegible] has the power to reduce or appropriations.

One letter, sent in response to a telegraphed protest to the slash, continued:

"The request of the President for an appropriation of $875,000,000 was based on continuing approximately 3,000,000 persons on work relief during the winter months, and decreasing that number to about 2,700,000 persons by June.

"If the Congress should see fit to decrease the appropriation which the President has recommended, it is obvious that a very much larger number of persons on relief will have to be discharged.

"I assure you that the needs of WPA are very close to the President's heart. I can say very truthfully that none of the numerous other problems of government receives more time nor more personal attention than the President now is giving this question."

BID FOR SUPPORT

The fact that the White House was pressing [illegible] was regarded by [illegible] as a bid for support [illegible] off the [illegible] Judge Rosenman [illegible] the President to [illegible] of the [illegible]

Signs of such a move first became apparent at the press conference Tuesday when Mr. Roosevelt said that a majority of the amount voted by the House would restore [illegible] persons off WPA rolls.

Robart Defends Life Term for Prison Smoker

The state parole board [illegible]

[illegible]

SENTENCED AS KILLER

[illegible] 1911 [illegible]

[illegible]

Robart said:

"The prison infraction in 1911 offers the parole board an opportunity to exercise its discretion. The board is of the opinion this man is a menace to society.

SAYS HE'S VICIOUS

"Information the board has received concerning his conduct, though he was not convicted of anything, indicates a viciousness that impels us to keep him in prison.

"The community is fortunate that Plouffe committed that 1911 infraction."

The information referred to by Robart was said to involve a crime [illegible] in New York with which Plouffe was never charged.

Judge Dolan took the petition under advisement.

'Windsor Agent' Bared as Fake

Special to Boston American

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20—Miss Elsa Maxwell said today that an impersonator had given an announcement, credited to her, that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor will visit Los Angeles in March.

[illegible] to her, she related [illegible] at the home of [illegible] that the hoax had [illegible] distance telephone calls from New York, London and Paris.

"Although I am not a warm, personal friend of the Duchess of Windsor, as the report stated, I have great respect for both the duke and duchess. I am not, however, in a position to announce their plans," she said.

Miss Maxwell [illegible] she has never heard of [illegible] [illegible] social secretary [illegible] here to arrange [illegible]

"I make a habit of knowing my guests quite well," she said in her denial.

"As ambassador at large to the San Francisco World's Fair, I will be tremendously pleased if the duke and duchess attend the fair, as my impersonator gave assurance," she said.

Heroic Mother Passes Crisis

Mrs. Helen Steele Myear [illegible] old [illegible] mother who saved the lives of her two small children by throwing herself in front of an automobile careening toward them was believed to have passed the crisis of her injuries today at Cambridge City Hospital.

She was still in a serious condition, but was expected to recover. The children, Dorothy Ann [illegible] old, and Ann [illegible] were unhurt, though the infant was thrown from its carriage. The accident happened in Oxford street, Cambridge, Wednesday.

Hold Waltham Men in Paine Extortion Case

Two Waltham men were held in [illegible] for the grand jury by [illegible] Howard W. Robbins [illegible] today on charges of conspiring to extort [illegible] Robert Treat Paine of [illegible] descendent of a signer of [illegible] of Independence. [illegible] Robbins [illegible] against [illegible] when G-men said [illegible] [illegible] Paine a series of letters threatening the prominent [illegible] and business man [illegible] his wife and then hiring Thomas [illegible] Sweeney, 22, the second defendant, to pick up the money [illegible] $2,000.

Sweeney, however, was caught in a trap [illegible] by the G-men when he [illegible] to get a package supposed to contain the money. [illegible] was arrested a short time later.

The first extortion letter read in court said:

"Robert Treat Paine. You are demanded to pay $2000. No marks. Old bills. Report nothing or you and your wife will have no more pleasure. Place this letter in shoe box with money, bring to flag station on Lyman street January 4 at seven o'clock. Be sure no one is there. You will be watched."

Try This, Girls

DENVER, Jan. 20 (AP)—Two armed men broke into Miss Hazel [illegible] Mills' apartment so she "just threw myself on the floor and screamed for all I was worth."

The men stared, pocketed their guns, fled.

"I must have scared them," she concluded.

DIVORCE is sought by Betty Lorraine, dancer, from Charles Barnett, Band leader.

JITTERBUG JOLTS JILTED 'JIVER'

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—The latest thing in process servers—a jitterbug—took the swing out of a bandmaster's marriage.

The dance fad addict stopped jittering long enough to hand a document to Charles Barnet, well-known broadcasting band leader. The paper notified Barnet that his secret marriage to pretty Betty Lorraine, show girl, had ended.

The "rug-cutting" process server, his mission accomplished, then shagged away from the band stand, his fleeting smile melting into the crowded dance floor at the Famous Door night club, where Barnet was making his debut.

A glance at the summons told Barnet his wife, who incidentally is Mrs. Barnet the third, was asking an annulment of a marriage which was less than two months old.

The couple had eloped to Elkton, Md., last November 21 after a hectic 48 hour romance. They were the last of Broadway's "Quickie" marriage seekers to take advantage of Maryland's easy matrimonial laws, before they were repealed.

After the ceremony, which was kept a dark secret, Mrs. Barnet returned to work as a glamour girl in the Midnight Sun, one of New York's better known night spots.

The show girl is asking for the annulment under her real name, [illegible] Mumford, the [illegible] which she graced [illegible] as daughter of Ed[illegible] Mumford, retired U. S. [illegible] wealthy merchant. She was previously married to [illegible] Hutson, Canadian [illegible].

[illegible] second wife was pretty [illegible] Lloyd, screen and radio [illegible].

Connecticut Tax Asked on Bachelors

HARTFORD, Jan. 20 (AP)—It will be costly to stay unmarried in Connecticut if State Representative John G. Fitzgerald (D.) has his way.

He introduced a bill in the legislature today which would impose a $10 tax on all bachelors over 40.

Blast Injures 3 In Cambridge

Four persons were injured when a steam kettle exploded in a Cambridge candy factory today.

The victims were: Michael Guzetian, 20, of Amsden street, Cambridge; Louis Scione, 50, of [illegible] avenue, Revere; James M[illegible], 47, of East Cottage street, East Boston, and Jerry Sc[illegible], 17, of School street, Revere.

According to police the four were preparing a kettle of fudge to pour on candy when the container began to leak. The explosion followed.

The injured were taken to Cambridge City Hospital [illegible].

CLEAR ANDOVER DRIVER

LAWRENCE, Jan. 20 (AP)—The district court today absolved John M. Lynch, 22, of Andover, of blame in an automobile collision January 11, which resulted in deaths of Mrs. Charles Pell, 38, of Lynn, and Herman [illegible], of Boston.

Girl Pilot Seeks Air License Here

Two distinguished persons, one the first girl pilot ever to receive a flying license in Singapore, the other a nephew of a famous air hero, are now studying for their American pilot licenses at the Boston airport.

The pupils, studying under the guidance of William N. Batty, commercial pilot, of the Boston Flying Club and E. W. W[illegible] Airways, are Miss Marion Blake and Albert Francis Hegenberger, whose famous uncle is Lieutenant A. F. Hegenberger, who flew a distance of 2400 miles from California to Honolulu—in 26 hours.

Miss Blake, born in New York, began flying in 1927. After three years of flying seaplanes at Singapore, she discontinued flying in 1931 and her license expired.

Discussing her eight-year respite from the air, her instructor said:

"Although, until yesterday, Miss Blake has not done any flying since 1931, she hasn't forgotten a thing. A few hours of brushing up and she will be eligible for a Department of Commerce license.

"Yesterday she went out over Boston Harbor and put a training ship through advanced maneuvers. Her flying was excellent."

Young Hegenberger intends to make aviation his life work, with a commercial certification as his goal. Like his uncle he was born in South Boston.

FIRST GIRL pilot in Singapore is distinction of Marion Blake shown with Albert Francis Hegenberger, nephew of famous flier of same name, at East Boston airport.

Fear Malady Dooms 'Waddy'

Fearing that Waddy, the only elephant left of [illegible] for Franklin Park Zoo in 1914 may die soon, Boston park officials today anxiously awaited the results of an autopsy made on her dead companion Tony by Harvard scientists.

Professors of Harvard medical school operated on the huge carcass trying to discover what strange malady killed Tony.

Most elephants live to be 50 years old and frequently reach 65 or 70 but Tony was only 35.

Tony, with Molly and Waddy were purchased by the pennies of hundreds of thousands of New England school children. Molly died in 1921, and now Curator Daniel Harkins fears Waddy will not live through the winter.

Slush Fund Battle Brewing in House

Growing opposition in the State House to a giant "slush fund" under the guise of a $1,000,000 allotment for emergency use under the new biennial sessions system caused brakes to be set in the Legislature today against speedy enactment of budgetary laws.

The ways and means committee proposed setting up the reserve fund so that deficiencies in various state departments can be met during the second year of the session.

Urging his fellow solons to [illegible] in considering the measure which already has been advanced to a third reading and will come up for vote before the House Monday, Representative John W. Vaughan of Belmont, Republican, said:

"Let's keep away from any slush fund. I say the Legislature has no right to delegate its authority by this fund or any other means."

In order to insure fair administration of the proposed reserve fund, the House accepted amendments to the bill providing that a nine-man commission of three senators, five representatives and the commissioner of administration and finance be put in charge of the money.

A demand that this commission be eliminated was voted down 132 to 71. Other controls over the fund [illegible] upon were:

Public hearings on all transfers of money.

Seven days' notice to the Legislature before any transfer shall be made from the [illegible].

Representative Albert E. Morris of Everett became the leader of another rebellious outbreak when he stated he would battle on Monday against the appointment of Charles P. Howard as an investigator of the state public works department.

Governor Saltonstall appointed Howard, who formerly was chairman of the commission on administration and finance, to probe the public works and welfare departments of the state.

Robbery Planned In Local Tavern

SALEM, Jan. Jan. 29.—The robbery of a Lawrence warehouse on Jan. 9 was planned in a Boston tavern, Harold A. Sumpter of Cambridge testified here, identifying three others as his accomplices. He said he acted as lookout.

The place robbed was that of Michael Casey in Common street. Police say there were cigarettes worth $1000 loaded in a getaway truck when they moved in and arrested Sumpter, the only one they could catch.

Got a Cold? Eye Test Tells Why

By G. B. LAL

International News Service Science Editor

(Copyright, 1939)

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Dr. L. B. Pett, a Canadian scientist, has discovered a rapid eye test that helps in prevention and cure of common colds, night blindness and other ailments due to lack of Vitamin A, it was learned today.

Experiments on 1200 persons at the University of Alberta, Canada showed a definite relation between Vitamin A deficiency and susceptibility to common colds, night blindness and dryness of the skin.

Full details of this work have been reported to Nature, official organ of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

"In a survey of 1000 university students, 52 per cent were normal, 24 per cent on border-line, and 24 per cent were deficient with respect to Vitamin A," the report says.

"From these students, 753 case histories were obtained. Colds developed within a month of the test: In 54.5 per cent of the normals, 64 per cent of the borderline cases; 71.5 per cent of the deficients.

"Night blindness developed in 7 per cent of the normals, 18 per cent of the borderline cases, 19 per cent of the deficients. Dry skin was manifest in 7 per cent normals, 16 per cent borderline and 18 per cent deficient cases."

Dr. Pett has devised a new apparatus which tests the reaction of the eye. The person is shown a bright light for 30 seconds and the time required for his eye to be able to see things in dim light measured. If the adaptation takes 10 seconds or less, the person is normal."

The lapse of 15 seconds or more before the eyes get used to dimness, means that there is a lack of vitamin A in the body. In 123 cases which were deficient according to the test, recovery was achieved by feeding vitamin A.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Jan. 20 (AP)—Those annoying sounds of warring alley cats and ethereal boiler-making operations which emerge from your radio at the crucial moment in a good program have apparently been doomed by the latest advance in electrical engineering.

REPEAL RECIPROCITY ACT

THERE IS EVERY indication that the present Congress will repeal the Reciprocity Act of 1934, under which international trade treaties have been made WITHOUT THE ADVICE AND CONSENT OF THE SENATE, or at least will not consent to its extension.

This act was one of the bitter fruits of the era of Congressional subservience to the New Deal, during which the representatives of the people abjectly surrendered so many constitutional functions to the Executive, and bureaucracy consequently became so firmly entrenched in government.

In consequence of it, trade treaties were negotiated by the Executive with a score of foreign countries, including Great Britain, permitting the cheap products of those countries to be sold in competition with American products at prices ruinous to American industries, American labor and American standards of living.

THE HISTORIC AMERICAN principle of a protective tariff, by which American standards have always been maintained above pauper foreign standards, was thus undermined.

Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, has already shown how thoroughly that disastrous result has been accomplished.

The trade treaties negotiated by Secretary Hull, he pointed out, have made approximately 1000 reductions in the tariffs which protect American industry and labor, ranging up to 50 per cent.

IDLE AMERICAN FACTORIES, farms and workers have been the price of that.

But, as Mr. Treadway says, the full toll may not yet be reckoned, for the British trade treaty, which was the most monumental sacrifice of American interest of all, was purposely the last concluded, and the American factories it will close and the American workers it will render jobless cannot yet be determined.

Moreover, there is a well-defined suspicion that not even the requirements of the Reciprocity Act itself, among which is that "reasonable public notice" must be given an American industry before conclusion of a treaty affecting it, have been met.

The evidence of that suspicion is in a resolution now pending in the Senate, jointly introduced by Democratic and Republican Senators from the sugar producing States, seeking a report from the State Department on the new trade agreement made with Cuba.

The Representatives and Senators who are keeping the tariff issue to the fore in Congress are responding to the obvious wish and desire of the American people.

It is the American people who are carrying the full burden of unemployment and relief.

And the American people well know that the foreign competition which the New Deal Administration has fostered CAUSES unemployment and CREATES the necessity for expenditure of billions for relief.

CONGRESS should not wait until June 12, 1940, when the Reciprocity Act expires, to take back the treaty-making powers specifically delegated to it by the Constitution.

It should vote to REPEAL THE ACT NOW, and vote for restoration of American jobs and wages to American workers, and vote for AMERICAN STANDARDS OF LIVING.

STRICTER PAROLE

GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL demands that the Massachusetts parole procedure be in strict accordance with the law, and that is well.

The turning [illegible] should be a much more SERIOUS BUSINESS than it has been made in the past.

It should be at least as serious as the CRIMES these freedom recipients commit.

As serious, for instance, as the recent death in Salem of a seafaring man, fatally [illegible] by a PAROLED State Prison inmate in an argument over fifty cents.

If we are to continue to have a Parole Board, it should be the important, DELIBERATIVE body the law intends, and its advice should carry great weight with the Executive.

BUT IS IT WISE TO AVOID ADVANCE PUBLICITY ABOUT PRISONERS SEEKING PARDONS?

Secrecy, even a semblance of closed-door activity, can excite suspicion and further undermine public confidence in the entire parole system.

Of course, the theory of freeing prisoners is so deeply based in the humanitarian impulses of our democracy that its abuses have been long endured.

But, despite our innate sympathies, it becomes increasingly clear that we cannot forever be merciful with criminals at the cost of having honest citizens murdered, of having women and girls despoiled, of having children [illegible] and slain.

A FAIR SUGGESTION has been made that Mayor Tobin veto "without prejudice" the permit recently granted for dog racing at the old [illegible] trotting park.

The City Council voted the permit during a recent 10-minute session without giving opponents any chance to be heard.

In fact, the public knew nothing about the plan until the Council acted.

It's true enough that Suffolk County voted overwhelmingly in favor of dog racing, but any controversial plan merits a hearing open to both sides.

There isn't any reason for undue haste. There are still some free dog-racing dates. "Veto without prejudice" would permit hearing both sides of the question.

THEN THE COUNCIL COULD ACT—FAVORABLY OR UNFAVORABLY WITHOUT INVITING CRITICISM OR SUSPICION.

If Hyde Park wants a dog racing track, Hyde Park should have a dog racing track. But let the Council, in all fairness, first determine.

"JITTER NATION"—that is America's new name, if Mr. David Seabury, psychologist, author and recent Ford Hall Forum lecturer, is to be believed.

Author [illegible] paints a most doleful picture of the United States; divorce [illegible] neuroses and nervous breakdowns multiply constantly, and almost as many persons enter asylums as colleges.

The indictment is supported by statistics from the English Medical Association, glibly quoted.

All this is interesting, though hardly convincing. Particularly do we resent the use of British figures to back up the contention we as a country lack mental health and stability.

Too fresh in our memory are stories about Englishmen building bomb cellars, putting gas masks on babies, hanging wires on balloons and flying them over London.

If those actions do not indicate JITTERS, what do they indicate?

Gilbert-Sullivan Fame Endures

By EDWIN C. HILL

IN A LONDON THEATER in [illegible] answer the [illegible] and step on the stage. [illegible] right and left.

So passed Gilbert and Sullivan, in [illegible] and Dundrearies, forever from the public view, but their quarrel [illegible] a note of their [illegible] through [illegible] New York with the Savoyards [illegible] century and still [illegible]

IT WAS A ROW over a carpet which ended their collaboration of more than 20 years. If anybody ever eviscerated stuffed shirts, debunked pride and pretense, tripped the haughty and pretentious, it was Sir Arthur S. Sullivan and William S. Gilbert. But they seemed to lose their salutary humor and satire in personal relation.

The carpet affair was just a match set to a long powder train which had been laid years before. From the beginning of the partnership in 1871 Sullivan had thought the fantasy and clowning of their comic operas was unworthy of his serious musicianship.

SULLIVAN, an organist, pianist, composer and choirmaster of St. Michael's Church of London, had been educated in music at Leipzig and had made a considerable success in Germany. Returning to England in 1862, he found his own country cold and indifferent to his best offerings.

His first casual association with Gilbert, in an unpretentious piece put on in the shabby Opera Comique, an underground theater, started their vogue, which kept on growing until the astute D'Oyly Carte became their producer and built the Savoy theater for them in 1877—whence the name Savoyard.

As their fame grew, the more embittered Sullivan became. He must have felt like an [illegible] Hamlet [illegible] as he teamed up with a hoofer. This discontent was [illegible] fanned up when Queen Victoria, who had appeared to think that some of the Gilbert and Sullivan offerings were not as [illegible] as they should be, sent word to Sullivan that he should write a grand opera.

MARTYN GREEN IN IOLANTHE SCENE
"The Apple of Discord Is Forgotten"

D'Oyly Carte was driven half mad trying to keep them together. In 1890 their "Gondoliers" was a smash hit. Carte always deducted [illegible] before the [illegible] for the lobby caused a loud protest from Gilbert. Sullivan sided with Carte.

On May 5 of that year Sullivan wrote a bitter letter dissolving the partnership. Sullivan wrote his grand opera, and it was a resounding flop. They each got other collaborators, but the old magic was gone. The apple of discord is forgotten in their legacy of joy to all who came thereafter.

'BUGS' BAER SAYS:

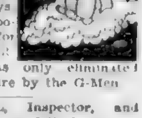
THIS ARTICLE concludes the life of the immortal Inspector Byrnes, feared by the thieves of the Gay Nineties. The Inspector was a gentle lad, with a bit of heel clinging to his soul. He had eyes like rainholes in snow and a mustache that looked like the handlebars on a yak.

THE INSPECTOR'S method of dealing with evil-doers was to kick them around like a hat in a barroom fight. He slapped the boys to a white blister. Then he broke the blister. He was the lad who figured the cubic law in hickory.

THE INSPECTOR had but one kind of logic. And that was a belligerent bellow that curdled all the milk for miles around. This was followed by a slap on the chinstrap that moved all your teeth into the king row. For the rest of your life they jumped back and forth like double checkers.

THE INSPECTOR believed in Star Chamber proceedings. He didn't care whether the man was guilty or not so long as he confessed. The Inspector was no lightning bug illuminating the Dark Ages. He smacked you around like a tambourine in a gypsy dance. That was the general idea of law enforcement in the 1880's. He knew only one degree in crime and that was guilt.

AN EVIL-DOER was safe across the State line and there were little reciprocal arrangements. The habit of offering rewards created a selfishness in local enforcement that was amazing. It was under this system that the political oasis for lamisters spread. And was only eliminated from the picture by the G-Men.



FAREWELL, Inspector, and wherever you are, let's hope that the pin on your badge isn't fastened in your epidermis.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A YOUNG MODERN said to me on New Year's Eve: "The [illegible] all you old people [illegible] on a [illegible] [illegible] there was [illegible] ... [illegible] like that today? [illegible] cheap when you discovered it was [illegible]."

As the casual speech of [illegible], these remarks may not seem of great value. But as a [illegible] of the attitude of millions of intelligent, ambitious, determined young citizens they should give this nation plenty of pause.

As [illegible] wreckage, they [illegible] a new world of their [illegible]. And it is OUR fault not THEIRS if they build it on the [illegible] of sneers. The best we can do is to answer their comments [illegible], not with [illegible] ... as I am trying to answer this New Year's comment.

[illegible] think there's no hell, [illegible] and you wonder how [illegible] it?

YOU'RE WRONG! [illegible] IS ONE HELL FAR MORE [illegible] THAN [illegible] BY FIEND [illegible] SAINT PAUL.

[illegible]

AND THIS IS HELL! ... NOT BLISTERED FLESH ... BUT BLASTED SPIRIT ... DEVOID FOREVER OF DESIRE ... YES, THAT IS HELL!

YOU'RE RIGHT that's Hell. A Hell that doesn't lie in some remote abyss ... nor hold its tortures back until you die ... nor start upon some distant Judgment ... BUT STARTS RIGHT HERE AND NOW ... WITHIN YOURSELF ... BETWEEN YOURSELF AND GOD.

Not a question of broken convention or violated law ... but the result of your own inner attitude.

The minute you become so sated or so wasted that you can no longer quicken to the call of Life, that minute you're in Hell.

BUT THERE'S ONE thing you can't outsmart ... And that is LIFE! As surely as you make a joke of Life ... so surely, Life will make a joke of you. [illegible] as you see [illegible] in your rounds ... those [illegible] men whose blood has turned to [illegible] ... Those [illegible] Women [illegible] a ghastly mockery of [illegible] ... Husks [illegible].

NOT BLISTERED FLESH BUT BLASTED SPIRIT, WHERE NOTHING NEW CAN GROW ... BEWARE OF THAT KIND OF HELL! DARE TO FEEL! DARE TO LAUGH AND LIVE! ...

Girl About Town

by ANN MARSTERS

SOCIETY MODELS, they say, are [illegible] society models. And you've all heard the [illegible] about the pampered darlings taking jobs away from those who really need work.

We have never believed this to be a very serious matter, because most society girls don't work at anything, and those who do have [illegible] a perfect right to whatever jobs they can get. To think otherwise would be almost the same as [illegible] that all people with a lot of money should resign their jobs and give them to people without money. Then you would have the [illegible] and the whole structure of [illegible] would crumble away. At [illegible]. But that doesn't have much to do with what I was going to say about models.

UNTIL A WHILE AGO Boston had only about a dozen professional models. (That was before the Academy [illegible] began producing a new crop every so often.) At present, there are nearly 60 professional models who work only in Boston and a few ... a very few ... are society girls.

It's much easier for a model to get a steady job if she can do some other work as well, like [illegible] or typing. Because hardly any Boston stores employ girls to do nothing but model gowns as a steady occupation.

Jo Marie Adams and Cornelia Menard (whom you see in the picture) are post debutantes as well as brand new graduates of the modeling school.

NEW YORK CITY: Mr. [illegible]

[illegible]

THERE IS NOTHING [illegible] 90 per cent of WPA [illegible] to vote for [illegible] WPA. Mr. Hopkins has said [illegible].

[illegible]

IF MR. [illegible] are correct, they answer every one of those [illegible]. WPA, closely held in the control of the Executive, is the most powerful political machine this country has ever seen, powerful enough to perpetuate the President and his party for as long as it lasts.

Mr. Hopkins was wise in saying that if he had WPA to do over he would make no political speeches. It isn't necessary. The force of this [illegible] patronage doesn't need any urging. It works while you sleep.

It will continue to work as long as this vast army of [illegible] remains on the Federal payroll under [illegible] control. It would stop working only if relief were returned to the States under bi-partisan [illegible] with Federal [illegible] and State [illegible].

Babies Fed 5 Days With Eye-Dropper

By ALLAN ROY DAFOE, M. D.
Personal Physician to the Dionne Quintuplets
[illegible] King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

I began yesterday to tell you something of the method of feeding premature children, by telling of our experiences in feeding the quintuplets during the early days of their life.

When the children were five days old we stopped feeding them with the eye-dropper. [illegible] And feed[illegible] had to be made every two hours.

As I say, when they were five days old we switched to a Breck feeder. This is a glass barrel with a nipple on one end and a rubber bulb on the other. These feeders are used for children who are small and weak, whether they are premature or not. That is because they haven't the strength themselves to nurse long enough to furnish their needs.

USE TUBE SOMETIMES

In this method of feeding it is made easy for the liquid to enter the stomach. Of course, if you [illegible] too much [illegible] will take place. [illegible] must be given [illegible]

[illegible] thing is to give [illegible] complete rest. [illegible] has the proper amount of water, correct humidity and diet and let them alone. Nature will do the rest.

I [illegible] of them. More most often [illegible] looked as though they were gone. We would see them going [illegible] looked as though heart [illegible] faded and that the lungs had [illegible]. In these [illegible] we administered a few drops of [illegible] and every time they [illegible].

I remember how I was [illegible] some critics for [illegible] I hadn't [illegible]. Well, my answer was simple [illegible] we didn't have any. Money was [illegible] was expensive. [illegible]

BETTER THAN RUM

At the end of the first week we were able to substitute a [illegible] rum. This was a gas [illegible] percent oxygen, 5 per cent carbon dioxide. We fed [illegible] through an ordinary inhalator and a reducing valve.

We do not say that George originated the insect or animal or even the fowl comic character. They are older than the hills in humorous drawings, but what we do say is that he was the daddy of fantasy in this field and certainly he was the originator of certain [illegible]

Betty Alden on Beacon Hill

WE'VE OFTEN MENTIONED what a busy time it [illegible] during the social season . . . [illegible] the wee small hours and then getting up early in the morning for Junior League welfare work and other charitable activities which must be attended to before the round of luncheons and teas begins all over again . . .

But the last few days we've been wondering which can be the busiest . . . a debutante or a Governor . . .

A Governor has to attend innumerable banquets and late evening affairs and yet be able to appear fresh as a daisy when he arrives at the State House the next morning . . .

Certainly Governor Saltonstall's debutante daughter, Emily, can have no more crowded schedule than her popular papa . . . This evening he will pause long enough in his round of state affairs to talk informally to members and guests of the Women's City Club at a dinner in his honor in the white panelled assembly lounge of the Club . . .

Numerous Reservations

MRS. F. WINCHESTER DENIO, chairman of the public affairs committee, has assumed the responsibilities of chairman of the dinner and among her assistants who are anticipating the opportunity of hearing the distinguished guest, are Miss Eleanor Allen, Mrs. Rowland G. Freeman, Miss Katharine Lyford, Mrs. Oliver Andrews, Mrs. Roland Baker and Miss Eleanor B. Fabyan . . .

Mrs. Lorenz Mueller, president of the club, is ex-officio member of the committee, which also includes Mrs. Robert Culbert, Miss Leslie Hopkinson, Mrs. Herbert Ehrmann, Mrs. Merle I. Painsod and Mrs. Frances Kirk . . .

So many members have made reservations that the clubs dining facilities will be taxed to capacity . . .

Stork Visits Pertzoff Home

THE INFANT SON born to Mr. and Mrs. Constantine Pertzoff of Cambridge this week, has come into the world with quite a distinguished heritage . . . His Daddy is a former Russian aristocrat who has won outstanding scholarships in architecture in this country . . . and his mother the former Olga Monks, is from one of Boston's oldest and most respected families . . . Not one ceremony, but two, were performed to unite Olga and her husband in matrimony in September 1937 . . . an Orthodox Russian ceremony at the Church of the Holy Trinity, followed by the Episcopalian service in the famous Gardner Palace, home of Olga's late aunt, Mrs. Jack Gardner . . . Mr. and Mrs. Pertzoff recently returned from Europe where they spent their honeymoon . . .

HOPE HALSEY'S candid camera is an important accessory even with her most formal evening attire. She is the attractive niece of former Governor and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, who will give a house dance for her at their Beacon street mansion, February 8.

Whelan-Hearns Ceremony Next Month

A considerable bit of local interest surrounds the wedding of Marie Elizabeth Hearns of Brooklyn, N. Y., to Dr. Charles Stephen Whelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Whelan of Worcester, on February 4. The ceremony will be solemnized in Brooklyn by an uncle of the future bride, Rt. Rev. Monsignor John B. Gorman.

The bride's sister, Rosemary, will serve as her honor maid, while the bridesmaids include Mrs. John A. Toomey of Worcester and Mrs. George Shiebler, another sister of the future bridegroom. Two nieces of the bride, Madeline Hearns Glynn and Agnes Jeanne Ryan, will be flower girls.

Francis D. Whelan of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be his brother's best man, while two others, Timothy and David, head the usher corps.

Frances Jeffery Engaged to Wed

The engagement of Miss Frances Clarke Jeffery of Chicago to Harris Fahnestock Jr., of Cambridge, is announced by her aunt, Miss Frances E. Worden. The future bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James C. Jeffery of Chicago. She attended Miss Risser's School in Rome and Vassar College.

Mr. Fahnestock is the son of Harris Fahnestock of New York and the late Mabel Metcalf Fahnestock. He graduated from St. Mark's School and from Harvard in 1927. He is a member of the Union Club and the Tennis and Racquet Club. There are no plans for the wedding.

Quincy Bridal

At a quiet home ceremony a week from Saturday Barbara Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kerr of Quincy, will become the bride of Leonard Marshman of Braintree.

The bride-elect's sister, Ruth, will be her only attendant, and Thomas McCusker, Jr., of Braintree officiates as best man. A reception at the Myles Standish Hotel will follow the ceremony.

Miss Kerr is a graduate of Lasell Junior College and the Traphagen School of Design in New York. Mr. Marshman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Marshman.

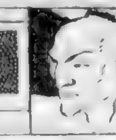
KIT CARSON -- Avenger!



By EVELYN WELLS

FOUR TRIBES UNITE TO CRUSH WHITES

CHAPTER 27

"And if any [illegible] does not come in," ran Kit's warning, "and join the peace party, [illegible] be regarded as hostile and savage and treated accordingly.

"As sure as the sun shines, this will come true!"

June passed. Only a few frightened Navajo had promised peace. Eight thousand others, trained in 200 years of warring, were preparing to fight Kit Carson.

In July in northeastern Arizona, in the center of the Navajo country, Kit Carson with 7[illegible] soldiers, 27 officers and two mountain howitzers established a new fort named Canby for his former general.

After the long [illegible] march and in the ex[illegible] of [illegible] the fort, the New Mexican soldiery played pranks [illegible] on their [illegible] "the Colonel." One of them [illegible] Kit's [illegible] with an order on the commissary for a [illegible]. Kit signed it, the quill pen [illegible] under his down-pressing fist.

RUSE DECEIVES KIT

[illegible]

rifle balls scarred the new walls of the isolated fort.

THE WAR STARTS

The Navajo were aroused [illegible] like aroused hornets. War [illegible].

Eight thousand blood-thirsty Navajo swarmed around the lonely post, Fort Canby, defended by Kit Carson with less than [illegible] hundred men. "We must [illegible] for raid" were Kit's orders.

At night on their stout [illegible] bands of Colonel Carson's soldiers [illegible] out over the [illegible] to [illegible] the scattered Indian encampments. Returning, they drove before them like cattle, bands of ten, twenty, even fifty captive Navajo.

And Colonel Carson began sending these captives by the [illegible] and hundreds to the Bosque Redondo, to be cared for under the [illegible] Stripes.

[illegible] Navajo [illegible] a [illegible], Kit Carson [illegible] the country of the Navajo.

He struck as Indians strike, at their food supply.

In September of that year [illegible] Navajo chiefs rode to the walls of Fort Canby.

"We sue for peace, [illegible]," they said, and their [illegible] were scarred with [illegible].

Kit's voice was gentle.

"There can be no [illegible] white and Navajo. The White Father in Washington sends word [illegible] Lords of the North [illegible]."

By thousands the [illegible] of the great Navajo nation [illegible] their greatest stronghold, [illegible] miles long, with granite walls a thousand feet high, called the Canyon de Chelly.

Fifty miles north of old Fort Defiance in Arizona, the [illegible] of the greatest canyons [illegible] had long been a mystery. Only the Navajo knew its secrets.

Now with winter coming [illegible] with the snows appearing on the [illegible] of northern Arizona, Kit [illegible] new orders. He was to capture the Navajo and march [illegible] to Santa Fe [illegible] Canyon de Chelly.

KIT'S BOLD PLAN

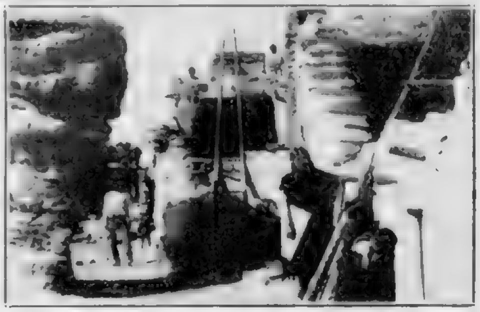
There were defiles in that canyon Kit had heard where only one man at a time could squeeze through. How could he lead nearly 400 men down a narrow pass [illegible] reach the arrows of all that were left of the Navajo nation?

But he dictated the [illegible] order and sent it by Indian runner to Santa Fe. "Before [illegible] all connected with this canyon will cease to be mysterious."

The snow deepened as the soldiers neared the dangerous canyon.

On that snowy march of 25 miles, 27 oxen perished.

And Kit with his division also went to the west opening, sending



ARIZONA INDIANS and their strange homes beside the famous Dance Rock. Gone forever is the fierce pride that made their ancestors respected and feared in Kit Carson's era.

[illegible]

THE LAST STAND

[illegible] in the snows outside the Canyon, with his frozen-footed starving men, Kit Carson waited with Pheiffer the surrender of the Navajo nation.

[illegible] a powerful nation. [illegible] Kit waited and during [illegible] seven thousand and nine hundred Navajo, three thousand [illegible] by Kit's men [illegible] Kit Carson and humbly prayed for peace.

"This is the crowning act in the life of Kit Carson!" reports said in Washington.

Other Indian nations, desperate before the driven flood of whites, buried ancient enmity, smoked the peace pipe together, and danced in ritual war dances [illegible] the white race.

[illegible]

"To horse!" [illegible] through.

Kit, shouting orders, led the charge through the village. It would [illegible] to ten men on the open plain to fight many thousands. On the river bank, he remembered, four miles away was a broken-walled deserted building known to all frontiersmen as "Adobe Walls." Kit led his racing regiment, pursued by hundreds of mounted Kiowas through tall winter grass and dry brush and snow drifts, into Adobe Walls.

"They have cut off our wagon train," Pheiffer reported in [illegible].

Kit ordered the men and horses into the broken walls, and looked back. On the other side of the alarmed village the wagon train carrying provisions and accompanied by seventy five men, was helplessly cut away.

Racing at full speed, Comanches flung their shining bodies over the sides of the horses and fired from under the horses' necks. [illegible] were acrobats. [illegible] they were born and lived on horseback.

SAVAGES FLEE

And beyond these racing lines were massed nearly 2[illegible] other savage warriors in full regalia, [illegible], sitting their horses

[illegible]

It was a desperate chance. [illegible]

Four abreast they advanced upon the Kiowa village [illegible] on every side by [illegible]. Warriors raced before them and [illegible] blazing brands on [illegible] Flames [illegible] before them a blazing wall.

They took the village. They burned the white skin tepees and [illegible] upon heaps of white women's and children's clothing [illegible] a cavalry sergeant's [illegible] Each told of a tragedy of the plains, of looted wagon trains and white scalps taken.

With four Indian [illegible] follow [illegible] fought their way to the wagon train and then turned with new energy on the tribes. [illegible] scattered and disappeared. It was impossible to punish them [illegible].

Hammer Killing Clues Mounting

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20 (AP)—Detectives assigned to solve the clawhammer murder of 35-year-old Mrs. Carrie Leiah Romig said today they "have a multitude of clues."

Among the clues were an open checkbook and an uncapped fountain pen found ready for use on a desk in the living room of the apartment where the slaying occurred. In drawers were more than 100 canceled checks and books of stubs.

Detectives said they had established that at least one caller and probably several others were in the apartment after the slain woman's young husband, Harold Dane Romig, 28, had left for work Tuesday morning.

Four-Purpose Cream Is Beauty and Budget Aid

By ARLINE GOULD

SUCH popularity indeed must be deserved! Whenever a cream [illegible] has women flocking to buy . . . all the way from [illegible] in Oregon to the crowded canyons of New York City . . . you know it has accomplished more than one [illegible].

[illegible]

[illegible] skin beauty [illegible] next to impossible. It [illegible] thoroughly yet it never [illegible] a [illegible] film to sink into your pores and clog them.

Many girls have found that their [illegible] are cleansed so thoroughly they don't ever need an astringent [illegible]. That's because really purged pores close naturally and don't need artificial work-outs.

Use it at night to give your skin a velvety texture, and after cleansing in the morning, a tiny film of it leaves an ideal soft base for your make-up.

She was a Heckers' baby

. . . NOW, IN A NATIONAL VOTE, beautiful Frances Donelon was recently named "The Typical American Girl." A famous artists' model, she needs a lot of energy but must be careful of her figure, so she eats Heckers' Cream Farina just as she has all her life.

Babies love it, and it's wonderfully good for them. Heckers' Cream Farina is so smooth and consistent in quality and its food energy is so quickly available that it has been used for baby feeding for more than eighty years. And it's so delicious that many grandparents, started on Heckers' Cream Farina as babies, are still thriving on it today.

Tomato Flavor Most Popular With Americans Now

FROM MARTHA LEE'S FRIDAY BROADCAST OVER STATION WMEX—11:30 A. M.

For a true native vegetable you can't beat the tomato. It's as American as the Red Skins. [illegible] red skins.

Centuries ago, [illegible] before the white man sailed into this continent seeking spices, the tomato was a cultivated plant. It was a tiny, wizened little fellow in those days, not at all like the big, fat pedigreed varieties we see today.

Somewhere between the new world and the old the tomato [illegible] face as a good food product. It was not until the [illegible] century that the tomato was so highly esteemed for its food value.

Just think what a wealth of downright good eating our forefathers missed. Think of your [illegible] of not having tomatoes. No tall chill glasses of tomato juice to cool you off on a hot day. No thick spicy cream of tomato soup to start a meal off with snap and savor. No rich and [illegible] flavored ketchup to bring out the [illegible] succulence in a good piece of steak. My, but they [illegible] of a lot of good eating in those days!

Why, you can use ketchup to build up the flavor of almost every kind of dish. Keep two bottles of ketchup on hand—one for the table and one for that spice shelf near your stove.

Now for some recipes using ketchup as an ingredient. Here's a big platter of deviled spare ribs spiced up with a tart tomato taste, a bowl of Bermuda onions steamed with a snappy ketchup sauce and a topping of oven-baked beans and a French dressing tones up with ketchup to give it [illegible] and zest.

Every single one of these recipes will be favorites with your family when you give them a [illegible] from the crimson ketchup bottle in cooking.

DEVILED SPARE RIBS

[illegible]

Peel potatoes and onions and place in roaster. Cover with spare ribs. Blend remaining ingredients and pour over meat and vegetables. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 1½ hours or until vegetables are tender. Baste three or four times during baking and remove cover the last 30 minutes to allow meat to brown.

If sauce is not as thick as desired, boil over direct heat until of right consistency.

BERMUDA ONIONS WITH OVEN BAKED BEANS

6 large onions
¼ cup butter, melted
¼ cup tomato ketchup
1 [illegible] can oven baked beans

Skin onions and cook slowly in salted water 45 minutes or until tender. Remove onions from water and cut a thin slice from bottom and top of each onion. Make cross cuts in top about ½ to 1 inch deep and ½ inch apart holding onion together. Do not separate after cutting. Combine melted butter and ketchup and pour about 2 tablespoons ketchup mixture over each onion, then top with a generous serving of the heated baked beans.

HONEY KETCHUP FRENCH DRESSING

2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons paprika
¼ cup honey
2 tablespoons tomato ketchup
2 tablespoons [illegible]
¼ cup pure cider vinegar
[illegible] cup salad oil

Combine dry ingredients. Add honey and blend well. Add remaining ingredients in order given. Beat thoroughly with rotary egg beater. Emulsion of this dressing holds for a number of hours. Store in covered container in refrigerator.

VEAL CREOLE

2 tablespoons butter
1 chopped green pepper
1 small onion, chopped
Veal cutlet
Salt and pepper
Flour
½ cup tomato ketchup
1 cup warm water

Melt butter in skillet and fry in it the green pepper and the onion. Remove the onion and pepper and then brown in the skillet a veal cutlet which has been sprinkled with salt and pepper and dipped in flour. When brown pour over it the tomato ketchup mixed with water. Bake uncovered for 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.). Thicken the sauce, if it is found to be necessary, with blended flour and butter.

HEALTH
Why You Sniffle

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

January 20th is the date of the largest number of colds. It is also the date of the lowest temperature in the United States. So there is a reason for calling colds "colds."

The incidence of colds is lowest from June 20 to July 20. It begins to rise sharply about the 15th of September. There is another sharp rise in the last week in November, and the rise reaches its peak January 20. Then there is a gradual and steady fall. March 17 shows about as many colds as November [illegible]. A drop of 1 degrees increases the incidence of colds nearly one per cent.

AGE IS FACTOR

These figures were compiled year after year by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, using its employes and their absent days on account of colds as a basis.

There is one other important factor in catching cold—age. The largest number of colds occurs in those under four years of age: 240 in a group studied. The rate falls steadily until it reaches 100 at the ages of 15 to 24. Then, for some reason, it rises again to 150 at 35 and then falls steadily, so that people at the age of [illegible] are practically free from colds.

Both these sets of figures have some significance. Cold weather and especially cold damp weather conditions unquestionably play some part in the tendency to catch cold.

These figures were [illegible] cold water reduces bodily temperatures more rapidly than cold air, thus lowering resistance. Here the factor of getting wet is explained.

KEEP MOVING AROUND

Loss of body heat produces definite changes in the membrane of the nose. There is blanching and reduction of blood supply. The temperature of the inside of the nose may go down as much as 10 degrees when the body is exposed to cold. Certainly these changes lower the resistance of the membrane to infection and make entrance of the virus of the common cold easy.

The white cells of the blood are also reduced on exposure to cold. These are the cells which fight infections of all kinds.

It is worth noting that exercise while exposed to cold does not produce these changes. So that if you have to get cold and wet these days, keep moving around.

Manners Brushed Up

Out with the college crowd for the first time! Will Alice make the grade as Betsy has?

Not if she doesn't wake up [illegible]. Such a dither she's in [illegible] wondering where she ought to sit.

Betsy doesn't worry about such problems as who sits where when a foursome goes to the movies.

Poised, sure of herself, she knows it's correct for one of the boys to go first into the row of seats. Then the two girls go in, leaving the other boy to sit closest to the aisle.

When clever girls start to have dates, they don't leave manners to chance, but get tips on etiquette. Naturally they're popular! Men like girls who know their way around.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet "Etiquette for the Teens" to Boston Evening American Home [illegible], 10th West [illegible] street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Attention, friends! Behold, I beg that "mystery of life"—an egg. So many vitamins, we're told, are stored within its heart of gold, to equal one small orb, [it] would take a QUART of milk, a POUND of steak. Now THAT is sumpin, don't you think, deserving of a rhymster's ink? Let's pause a moment now and then and praise the name of Mrs. Hen who gives to us her humble wealth, and "eggs" us on to happy health.

Hollywood

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor, International News Service

HOLLYWOOD Jan. 20 — How is Vivien Leigh taking [illegible] this storm of bitter criticism? How does she react to the flood of mail resenting that an English girl has been given the plum of the year — our American Scarlett O'Hara?

I must say that Miss Leigh is being a good sport and working hard to make the fans accept her. She has already overcome much of her British accent and hopes soon to be able to [illegible] a real southerner.

Louella O. Parsons

"How did you come to the attention of David Selznick?" I asked her, when she paid me a visit at my home.

It was then she told me of visiting the Selznick set to watch the burning of Atlanta on Dec. 12 and of being [illegible] to David's office for an interview.

"Did you want to play Scarlett?" I asked. "Of course," she said.

"'Gone With the Wind' has been as widely read in England as here. Every actress wanted to play Juliet and every modern player wants to be Scarlett. I hope now to justify the choice and try to be as near Margaret Mitchell's heroine as possible."

[illegible] Hollywood [illegible] be surprised if Ruth Selwyn and Richard [illegible] straight to the altar. You've never seen two people more in love and more ready to admit it. Ruth is the former wife of Edgar Selwyn, playwright and MGM producer.

The Barthelmesses entertained at dinner last night for the woman who has taught the world how to make parties amusing, and Constance Bennett has issued invitations for a party for both the Fairbankses and Miss Maxwell a week from Saturday night; February 17 is the date set for a swank preview of Shirley Temple's "Little Princess."

Gregory Ratoff and Marlene Dietrich are on a [illegible] diet and have lost several pounds each; the Loretta Young-John McClain friendship continues. That all for today. See you tomorrow.

Stabilization Fund Nets $10,000,000

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent
[illegible]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—The United States currency stabilization fund has made a net profit of approximately $10,000,000 International News Service learned today.

Operated by a handful of Treasury Department [illegible] the $2,000,-000,000 [illegible] which was set up to [illegible] dollar against widespread fluctuations in international exchange, yielded a profit of several millions during 1938.

All transactions involving the fund are [illegible] guarded Treasury [illegible] President Roosevelt is given a report of the fund's operations. A bare statement on the fund's business usually is given the House appropriations subcommittee each year by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. This [illegible] is furnished confidentially and is never published by the committee.

Because of the turbulent foreign [illegible] prevailing last year, the fund was considerably more active than in any other period since its creation in 1934.

[illegible] President Roosevelt [illegible] Congress [illegible] Jan. 15, 1941.

At the same time he requested [illegible] period [illegible] the dollar.

"It is obvious," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that the international monetary and economic situation is still such that it would not be to permit such powers to be terminated."

The stabilization fund was set up with the profit from devaluation of the dollar in the early days of the New Deal. Of the $2,000,000,000 thus realized, however, only $200,-000,000 actually has been used for [illegible] transactions. President Endorses Cotton Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt expressed the belief today that an international conference to work out the problem of how to dispose of surplus cotton would be a very good thing.

He told a press conference that latest reports on the proposed wheat conference were that it was [illegible] aiming toward control of world surplus.

He said he thought the same thing might be worked out for [illegible]

The President would not go into [illegible] the cotton proposal as announced by Secretary Wallace because he said it was in the pre-[illegible] stage.

U. S. Olympic Papas Get Out Tin Cup and Fiddle

THE OLYMPIC GAMES AT FINLAND are still 18 months away, but already the U. S. committee is making its quadrennial poor mouth. The Olympic daddies have warned subsidiary groups to get hot and start teasing funds from the people early, lest our 1940 team be a fleshless skeleton clad in rags.

AUSTEN LAKE

Dear me! The Europeans would be sure to resent our rags as a subtle suggestion that they owe us money and now is a good time to pay us a little something on account. The debtor nations which did not love us when we were rich are sure to love us less for seeming more impoverished than themselves, to whom a poor mouth is an international art.

Well, what if the U. S. Olympic team does hobo its way to Helsingfors, largely on charity, feeding from tin cans and living frugally? It might put a hardship on the boys and girls who wear Uncle Samivel's shield, but it will not be regarded as a calamity by several millions of middle-aged, male Americans who ate their iron rations and slept in cooty ridden holes 20 years back and always kept their alien engagements on the dot and did pretty well too.

ORIGINALLY IT WAS THE AMERICAN doughboys' vulgar display of wealth which sowed the seed of foreign irritation toward our money policies. The [illegible] to flash large rolls of French wall paper [illegible] and the natives complained bitterly about our habit of tearing up bundles of 10 and 20 franc notes which had become dog-eared [illegible] thanthe men had patience to [illegible] the pieces.

It was a common sight to see a U. S. buck private clean up the company payroll at a single shooting and, finding many detached fragments of the [illegible] currency among his winnings, shred them in confetti bits and fling them to the breezes. This, naturally caused great anguish to the onlooking French poilus, who were paid a couple of copper clackers each day and never had more than the price of a pot of potato wine in their britches.

Being inherently cautious with money the French would rend their beards and yell "Oo-la-la!" as some fuzz faced kid from Peoria, Ill. ripped up the equivalent of their year's pay and swaggered off with more wealth in the bulge of his blouse than a native farmer could save in a lifetime of hard toil.

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT ALSO squawked very piercingly about the U. S. soldiers' fad for tap, tapping the edges of silver two-franc pieces, which when flattened down and hollowed out in the center, made crude souvenir rings. The trick was to hammer down the rim so that the legend, "Liberte, Fraternite et Egalite" was preserved unmarred within the ring's interior.

Of course, a U. S. soldier might waste half-a-dozen coins before fashioning one that suited his whim, which the French complained meant destruction to many millions of silver bullion, not to mention the cost of minting the money.

There were other irritating factors in the social relations of our troops and the resident soldiery of England and France, or wherever the A. E. F. billeted. The British pub keepers never got used to having their bottle stocks smashed by sheer exuberance and [illegible] forever screaming for the provost guard. But the most pernicious irritatment of all, was the eagerness of the female population to swarm round our boys with that fascination peculiar among the ladies toward a man in ample funds.

This bred a creeping resentment on the part of the native military, which was usually flat busted, so it kept getting madder and madder and took to ganging on stray Americans who wandered away from their herd.

Thus, all in all, when the Yankees started for home after the armistice they left behind a big, throbbing gripe which was not soothed by our porthole farewells of "Who won the war?" and viva voce references to "Frogs" and "Limies," [illegible] to forget certain disparagements contained in "Hinky-dinky parley voo." In the end our ever-

Gifted Scholden Skates at Derby

By WALTER KILEY

Edi Scholden, only recently arrived in United States from a sensational tour of Europe, will launch his major American figure skating debut at the Boston American-Daily Record Silver Skates Derby, annual ice classic to be held at Boston Garden Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Scholden, who hails from [illegible] Arena, London, is recognized as one of the greatest exhibition skaters as well as one of the leading professional instructors in Central Europe.

He will feature on the Silver Skates entertainment bill headed [illegible] Hazel Franklin [illegible] 13-year-old girl of exceptional figure skating talent who likewise terms London her native home.

[illegible] will provide the [illegible] and will brighten the [illegible] New England men and [illegible] and girls [illegible] speed in [illegible]

[illegible] at the Boston Arena and [illegible] the Commonwealth Figure Skating Club which also holds [illegible] at the St. Botolph street ice palace.

Only recently he performed in London, Vienna, Sweden, Switzerland and Paris and before leaving for this country was coaching the Swedish and English figure skating teams for the 1940 Olympics to be held at St. Moritz.

The Derby will get under way promptly at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and for four hours there will be a grand series of events which are guaranteed to be fun and frolic and real competition not only for the racers and performers but amusing and enjoyable for the spectators too.

The field of just under 500 racers is the largest in the history of eastern speed skating, considerably larger than either of the three previously held Silver Skates here in Boston and proof positive that the American-Record championships are growing annually in interest.

The entire program will be published in tomorrow's morning Record, tomorrow's Evening American and Sunday's Advertiser.

Once again we beg the attention of any case which might have been overlooked. Should by chance any name be missing or should any entrant not receive his or her card of admission, we ask he or she to report before noon to the Clerk of the Course, Boston Garden, Sunday, and they will be provided for in the racing lists.

Derby Entries Printed Tomorrow

The full and complete and only official Silver Skates Derby program will be published in all editions of tomorrow's Morning Record and Evening American and in Sunday's Advertiser. The names, numbers and heats and all other pertinent information will be contained therein.

Tickets on Sale At Boston Garden

Silver Skates Derby tickets can now be obtained at the Boston Garden box office. Children under 1_ will be admitted for 25 cents, grownups for 40 cents. There are a limited number of box seats selling for 55 cents.

R. I. Speed Skating Races on Tomorrow

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 20 (AP)—The R. I. speed skating championships, postponed from January 8, will be held here tomorrow afternoon. Trials are listed for 10 a. m. and finals for 1.30

EDI SCHOLDEN, professional skating ace of London and Vienna, who will make his American appearance Sunday at annual Boston Evening American-Daily Record Silver Skates Derby at Garden.

Gretchen Merrill Nears Skate Title

ST. PAUL, Jan. 20 (AP)—Robin Lee, 19, national figure skating champion, became a prime favorite to collect the title for a fifth straight year when he piled up 1069.50 points in school figures exercises in the division here.

The school figures count approximately 60 per cent in determining the championship with free skating, which will be held tomorrow night in this group, to count 40 per cent.

School figures took up most of today's program with first of 1[illegible] division championships to be named tonight, these in the men's and women's junior skating.

Joan Tozzer of Boston, 17, opened her bid for a second straight senior women's crown today with the holding of school figures in [illegible] division.

Among her rivals are Charlotte Walther of New York, last year's ladies' junior champion; Audrey Pepper of New York, 1936 Olympic team member; Margaret Jane Vaughan of Philadelphia, nd Polly Blodgett of Boston.

Leding in the race for the ladies junior title is Gretchen Merrill of Boston, who piled up 291.20 points in the school figures to place ahead of Dorothy Snell of Baltimore

OPEN SLOPE SKIING will prevail again this week-end in New Hampshire, barring the possibility of a few snowflakes fluttering down in Northern centers by accident! Skiers! Keep on praying to St. Peter!

The neatest running to Boston can be found at Bristol, N. H., in the Newfound region. Reports state there is some good skiing on practice slopes and unbroken pastures. More snow is needed everywhere to create good conditions in all sections.

Mount Mansfield, Stowe, Vermont, has upper parts of all trails good, with some practice slopes skiable.

A Boston and Maine Sunday Snow Train is scheduled to leave the North Station at 8 a. m. for [illegible] Notch, N. H. Stops will be made at Conway, North Conway and [illegible].

loving allies had the last taunt by defaulting many millions of war debts which more than covered our dice-game destruction, amateur silver-smithing and busting of bottle stocks. In fact the money which we were never paid is now helping to finance the next European war, which we are being invited to help fight.

THUS, IF THE CONDITION of our next Olympic expedition is only an impauperized ghost of its former size and spending capacity, it will be an eye-opening shock to the European peoples who still idealize Americans as the ultimate, all-time high in spendthrift suckerism.

Since the collapse of our money boom, U. S. tourists have failed to swarm overseas and prowl the old world scattering their largesse. So Continental shop and hotel keepers have not seen them in their recent, busted state, and still recall them as they were when shucking layers off their bankrolls for some flimsy trinket or tipping a porter a day's pay.

It seems likely that the U. S. Olympic committee will manage, by a little panhandle here and an economical squeeze there, to float its field and track squads to Helsingfors next year. But the Olympic papas won't be satisfied with that. They want to include a full quota of boondogglers, moochers, grifters, towel swingers and deputy managers, who have always swamped every Olympic excursion. The Olympic papas want the American people to pay for their junket.

THE SHADOW continues to mystify mat fans. Casey, who promised to unfrock his opponent at the Boston Garden last night, failed and was lucky to get a draw. Steve is pictured above tossing the mystery man over the ropes early in the long drawn out fray.

BOS PASTOR, New York heavyweight, won a ten-round verdict from Teddy Warrington of Boston last night at Mechanics Building but hopped the midnight train for New York with a badly damaged eye. It was necessary to take five stitches to close the wound which will keep Pastor on the shelf for at least three weeks.

BREAK IT OFF was the howl set up by the fans at the Boston Garden last night when Steve Casey and The Shadow wrestled to a draw. Steve had the proper hold on his opponent to do damage but the "eel of the mat" managed to break the champ's hold before Stephen broke his arm.

Pastor Wins, Gets Bad Eye Injury

By HERB FINNEGAN

Bob Pastor lay in his New York apartment today, facing a serious session with the eye-stitcher and a month's respite from pugilistic activities after his 10-round victory over Terry Warrington at Mechanics Hall.

Pastor was butted in the left eye by the Nova Scotia colored boy during the third round.

It was a bad gash, and it was figured at least five stitches would have to be taken to close the wound.

It was a disappointing evening for the lad who went ten rounds with Joe Louis, but it was an encouraging one for the revivified Argonne A. A., which finished in the clear in its maiden venture despite the inclement weather and the counter attraction at the Garden.

PASTOR RALLIES

The entire card bristled with action, and the 2572 customers who contributed a gross of $3380 and a nee of $288 were pulled out of their chairs continually.

The main bout was pretty even going into the sixth round.

Warrington then forged ahead with a two-fisted rally, but Pastor, as game as they make them, came back to take the last four rounds and the duke. Pastor weighed 182¾, Warrington 176½.

"Those light, fast guys always give me trouble," said Bob after the fight. "They're harder to catch up to than the heavier lads."

Didn't Dempsey say the same thing once?

Warrington indeed was a revelation. Going into the fight on the short end of 10-3, the Nova Scotian had the wagering gentry biting their finger nails up to the ninth round.

A return bout probably would pack the hall.

The preliminaries, featuring new talent from the hinterlands, were excellent.

George Blaisdell, 147¼, Portland, took a unanimous decision from Francis Carter, 141, Worcester, four rounds.

Art Small, Portland, 161, did likewise against Tommy Quinn, Newton, 162¼.

Everett Ladd, 149, Westbrook, Me., dittoed against Eddie O'Tash, Dover, N. H., 142.

O'Tash was a crowd pleaser with his "switch-hitting" tactics and his genuflectory bobs.

BYRON BY KAYO

In the six rounders, Mohamed Fehmy, who talks English fluently for an Egyptian, defeated Eddie Rossi, Everett. Fehmy weighed 160½, Rossi 166.

In the second six, Freddie Pease, Willimantic, Conn., welter, was knocked out very conveniently in the first round by Young Byron of Roxbury so that the main bout could go on at 10 o'clock.

Art Ross Taunts Connie Smythe

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (AP)—The amateur hockey situation is "disgusting," Art Ross, manager of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, said in an address before the Wheelsmen's Club.

"You've only got two amateur teams in Montreal," Ross declared, "and you know the situation in the rest of Canada."

(This city has a half-dozen teams playing in Quebec province's two major senior amateur loops.)

Ross drew a laugh from his audience as he told of picking off some of his team's best players "right from under Mr. Smythe's (Conny Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs) nose." He mentioned Roy Conacher, Ray Getliffe, Johnny Crawford and the sauerkraut kids from Kitchener, Ont.—Milt Schmidt, Dumart and Bobby Bauer.

Nova Bout Next On Galento List

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 20 (AP)—Round Tony Galento is back in the good graces of practically everybody today, his recent lapses forgiven by the fans and his services eagerly sought by Promoter Mike Jacobs, the man who makes or breaks fighters.

Mike was among the 10,000 awed spectators at the Newark Armory last night when Tony knocked out Jorge Brescia, the angular Argentinian, in 1:41 of the opening heat, and he broke all existing records in reaching Tony's side and asking him how he would like to meet Lou Nova next March 10 in Madison Square Garden.

The exultant Tony, between proud proclamations that he hadn't had a single beer all day, told Mike nothing would please him more.

"I'll knock Nova out for you, and then get me that Joe Louis," he crowed.

Only one thing stands in the way of a Galento-Nova scrap—the little fact that Nova has signed to fight Max Baer on May 25.

Casey, the Shadow Bout Ends in Draw

By JACK CONWAY

In one of the most thrilling wrestling bouts ever staged in Boston, Steve Casey and "The Shadow" wrestled to a draw before 7000 fans at the Garden.

Referee Sam Smith halted the match at 1:23 a. m. when both wrestlers were completely exhausted and unable to get up off the canvas.

Each wrestler scored a fall. "The Shadow" pinned the champion in 1h. flat with a headlock, while Casey dropped the mystery man of the mat in 15m. 40s. with an inside crotch hold and body slam.

"The Shadow" insists his fall was scored just past the hour mark and that it gave him the world's title.

Referee Sam Smith ruled he called the fall just on the hour mark, and so under the rules of the American Wrestling Association two falls were necessary to win.

THE SHADOW BALKS

"The Shadow" at first refused to return to the mat, but when threatened with disqualification he resumed wrestling and lost a fall.

The fans were then furnished one of the most thrilling mat battles ever staged here. The big fellows set a terrific pace for an hour, and then both tired. During the last half hour of the bout, Casey and "The Shadow" at times were unable to lift themselves from the canvas, Casey suffered a head injury, while "The Shadow" was taken ill in the ring.

When it was evident that both men were completely exhausted, Referee Sam Smith called the affair a draw. The rivals had been wrestling for the deciding fall one hour, 30 seconds at the time.

ENDURANCE TEST

In all Casey and "The Shadow" wrestled two hours, 45 minutes, 40 seconds. It was a remarkable test of physical endurance and wrestling skill.

Casey, in view of the fact he didn't lose two out of three falls, still retains his title, while "The Shadow" remains unmasked.

Gus Sonnenberg scored another sensational victory in his comeback campaign when he tossed Jim Coffield of Missouri in 12m. 24s.

Rebel Bob Russell used an inside crotch hold, body lift and slam to win from "The Sheik" in 13m. 18s.

Harry Jacobs tossed Jack Smith in 8m. 31s., using an inside crotch hold, body lift and slam.

Frank Brown won over Pat Reilly in 12m. 6s., with the aid of an airplane whirl.

Pat Kelly and Stanley Sikowski went 15m. to a draw.

'Pure' Elite Seek Diamond Belts

Amateur boxers from all sections of New England will compete in the fourth and final tryout tourney of the 1939 Diamond Belt Boxing Championships, sponsored by the Irish American A. A. at the Boston Arena, next Monday night.

Colorful simon-pure leather tossers from Rhode Island, New Hampshire and the four corners of Massachusetts are signing up for this last chance to make a place on the finals program.

Bouts will be staged in ten classes on Monday night—eight in the open weights, ranging from flyweight to heavyweight, and two groups of novices at 135 and 160 pounds.

Monday night's winners in all classes—open and novice—together with the boys who have come through in championship fashion in the other preliminary shows—will clash in the Diamond Belt finals at the Arena on January 30.

Listed among the late entries are Joe Conroy, Fall River, and Fred Motram, Lawrence, 118; Tony Santos, Lawrence; Tom McCoy, Lawrence, and Florant Desnarais, Manchester, N. H., 126; Arthur Morris, Boston; Mickey Panczyk, Chelsea, and Orlando Cioffi, East Boston, 135 pounds.

The 147-popunds division will see stiff punchers like Sylvio LePerle, Worcester; Mike DeNapoli, Roslindale, 1938 state champion; Russell Troy, Worcester; Eugene Boulden, Providence, R. I.; George Culverwell, Framingham; Tom Bennett, South Boston; Edward Mahoney, South Boston, and Joe Delancy, Cambridge.

In the middleweight division are Mal Smallwood, Boston; William Connelly, Roxbury, and Tony Buckley, Milford; while in the 175-pound class are Charles Sergei, Boston, N. E. All-America 160 pounds novice champion; James Small, Boston, and Joe Zenovih, Bridgewater.

B. C. Goes After Big Ten Teams

Boston College Varsity Club will meet next Wednesday at Hotel Lenox to complete plans for the annual football dinner, which will be held Feb. 1 at University Club.

Feature of the dinner will be the presence of the new football coach, who probably will be named before the week is out.

It will be a coach of national reputation. That much has been promised. Also, B. C. will continue its big time football. It is definitely committed to that.

Games with Indiana, Minnesota and Iowa, all of the Big Ten, probably will dot the 1940 schedule.

BRUINS BLANKED BY CANADIENS

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (INS)—For the second time since his sensational appearance in the Boston nets, the Montreal Canadiens proved they had the Indian sign on Frankie Brimsek by blanking the Bruins, 1 to 0.

A goal-tenders' battle between Canadiens' Wilf Cude and the Hub city's Brimsek from the opening whistle, the actual play left little to choose between the two teams.

Johnny Gagnon's winning tally for Les Canadiens came a few seconds after the start of the middle frame. The marker was registered in a play involving Siebert and Blake and was scored from dead center on a back-handed shot some 20 feet from the Boston cage.

Largely out-played in the first and closing periods, only Cude's brilliant work in the nets and poor marksmanship on the part of the Boston shooters saved Les Canadiens.

A dog fight in front of the Canadiens' cage midway in the center frame laid Cude out with a bad gash from a high stick, but after medical treatment and a short rest he returned to finish the game.

Montanez 3-1 Choice Over New Haven Boy

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—Pedro Montanez, Puerto Rican lightweight sensation, and Ambrose Logan, New Haven, Conn., tipped the beam only half a pound apart this noon for their 10-round bout tonight at the Hippodrome.

Montanez weighed in at 139 and Logan at 139½. Montanez, defeated only by Lou Ambers out of 30 starts, was a 3 to 1 favorite to defeat Logan, who packed both Primo Flores and George Zengaras away with little trouble.

Junior Underdog In Ambers Go

Lou Ambers, the Herkimer Hurricane, will never get a chance to regain the lightweight boxing championship of the world from Henry Armstrong, according to one New York authority, who harbors a suspicion that Armstrong regards Ambers as much too tough.

Ambers, who comes here a week from tonight to fight Paul Junior, Lewiston, Maine, in the 10-round feature of the Goodwin A. C. ring show at the Boston Garden, is currently campaigning for another bout with Armstrong. But he may not get it.

The Herkimer Hurricane is the first and only fighter to make Armstrong back up. The champion was on the retreat for the last three rounds of his title scrap with Ambers and managed to squeeze his way through to the decision.

Which gives a general idea of just how capable a citizen Ambers is with his fists and why Paul Junior will go into the ring at the Garden a week from tonight, Jan. 27, as something of a long shot.

Dudleys, Ruggles Meet at Greenwood

The Dudley Street Elder Club quintet will meet the Ruggles Street Club tomorrow night at the Greenwood Community House. There will be three other games also, as follows: Barnes vs. Milton, Central vs. All Saints, Greenwood vs. Temple.

MR. BOSTON

Hazel Franklin Is Praised by Brown ‡ Silver Skates Derby Features New Star

By JACK CONWAY

WALTER BROWN, General Manager of the Garden, is my authority for the statement that 13-year-old Hazel Franklin is the most marvelous person in the world on skates. As Walter knows more about ice carnivals and skaters than any person in New England, his opinion of the sensational British star is worth more than passing attention.

Mr. Boston

"Hazel Franklin," declared Brown with enthusiasm, "can do anything on skates. It is amazing to see this brilliant youngster in action.

"It will only be a matter of a few years when Hazel Franklin will rate as the world's leading figure skater."

The 13-year-old British girl will be featured at the Silver Skates Derby of the Boston Evening American-Daily Record at the Garden on Sunday afternoon. The great crowd that will attend the Silver Skates Derby is certain to be thrilled by the amazing ability of the latest skating star to invade this country.

In addition to the talented Miss Franklin, there will be 500 speed skaters striving for honors. The class of New England's skaters will be seen in action.

It will be a grand show that will start at 2 p. m. and last until 6 p. m.

Four hours of thrills and action.

As in former years, the committee in charge of the Silver Skates Derby has established a popular price scale of 25 cents for children 12 years of age and younger, 40 cents and 55 cents for the box seats.

There are 18,000 seats in the Garden which will give all who wish to do so an opportunity to witness this brilliant ice carnival.

I suggest that you bring the children with you. They will get as much fun out of watching the races and seeing the clever Miss Franklin in her figure and fancy skating exhibition as you will.

I have never missed a Silver Skates Derby, and have received more thrills and laughs at them than at any other sports event.

Sonja Losing Ground as a Skater

THERE IS AN excellent opportunity for Hazel Franklin or some other gifted girl skater to take away the spotlight from Sonja Henie. While blessed with tremendous personality and marvelous skating ability, Sonja has passed the crest of her athletic career. The little Norwegian girl has maintained her drawing power by virtue of the Hollywood setting that she has given her show.

Evelyn Chandler, who appeared in the "Ice Follies of 1939," is a better figure and fancy skater than Sonja.

Bess Ehrhardt also has exceptional skating ability, but I do not believe she has ever reached the heights set by Sonja.

A youth like Hazel Franklin will take more chances on the ice than Sonja, Evelyn Chandler or Bess Ehrhardt. It is true of youngsters competing in athletics everywhere. They are always striving to reach new heights.

Ice carnivals have opened a new field for girl skaters. Sonja's Boston shows netted her more than $60,000, while her appearances in other cities brought her total earnings from skating to more than $250,000.

The "Ice Follies of 1939" also played to record houses.

It is natural that with a fortune to be earned in figure and fancy skating that a new star like Hazel Franklin will try to reach new heights at the Silver Skates Derby at the Garden on Sunday afternoon.

May I remind you once more that the show starts at 2 p. m. and will last until 6 p. m. I'll be seeing you there.

Random Shots at Target

THE LOU Ambers-Paul Junior 10-round bout at the Garden on next Friday night will cause thousands of people to make the trip here from Maine . . . Paul Junior has been the leading boxing card in Maine for several years . . . Chick Hayes, Portland promoter and a top featherweight in his day, says Paul Junior has everything in the fistic line.

Al McCoy came down from his training camp in Maine to see the Bob Pastor-Tiger Warrenton bout in Mechanics Building . . . McCoy's next opponent will probably be Buddy Knox . . . The latter has expressed a willingness to meet McCoy, but has failed to sign on the dotted line . . . "Rip" Valenti would like this match for a date early in February.

Henry Chmielewski, sensational Polish middleweight, will oppose Joe Lynch at Portland on next Monday night . . . Chmielewski fires punches faster than any man of high weight in the world.

Rajah's '26 Innuendo Gripes Alex

NEW YORK, Jan. 20 (INS)—"Old Pete" was back in New York today, but hardly as the baseball mighty of old.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the National League pitching stalwarts, will make a three-week stand at Hubert's Museum, home of a flea circus, just off Times square.

The pitcher who is mentioned in the same breath as Christy Mathewson will be 52 February 26, and after a major league baseball career that stretched from 1911 to 1930, he holds no ill-will toward anyone, although he admits Rogers Hornsby, once manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, "annoyed me a little bit."

PITCHED DAY BEFORE

Alexander's annoyance was caused by the now time-worn tale that he was drunk when he stalked from the bullpen to fan Tony Lazzeri with the bases full and hurl the Cardinals to World Series victory in 1926.

"I beat the Yanks the day before," Alexander explained, "and Hornsby came over to me and said, 'Alex, don't do any celebrating tonight because if things get tough I'm gonna put you in there again tomorrow.' I said, 'Okay,' and that's how it was.

"But the story got around anyhow and when a newspaperman asked Hornsby if I'd been drinking, Rog said, 'Alex pitches better when he's drinking than when he's sober.' If Hornsby hadn't talked that way, there wouldn't have been any misunderstanding."

Alexander admitted he was no abstainer as far as drinking was concerned, but insisted "I never got a bad word from any manager about the way I conducted myself off the field." He pointed to his record in extenuation.

30 THRICE IN ROW

Alexander, whose 373 victories are tops for National League pitchers, also has the distinction of being the only 20th century hurler besides Mathewson to win 30 or more games three years running.

He did this in 1915, 1916 and 1917. In 1916, while with the Phillies, he reached his high of 33 victories.

Old Pete's all-time team has Pat Moran as manager; Hal Chase, first base; Rogers Hornsby, second base; Harry Steinfeldt, third base; Honus Wagner, shortstop; Max Carey, center field, flanked by Zach Wheat and Frank Schulte; Red Killifer and Gabby Hartnett, catchers, and Christy Mathewson and Mordecai "Three-Fingered" Brown, pitchers.

Alexander called Mathewson the best pitcher and said Hartnett's hitting gave him the edge as a backstop.

Alex scans old baseball pictures now used to ballyhoo his "personal appearance" at New York Museum, where he shares top billing with a flea circus.
